OFFICER IN PEACE SOCIETIES WINS BOOK AWARD; GETS $50,000 CHECK

Presentation Made at Meeting in Philadelphia at Which Addresses Are Made by John W. Davis, E. L. Stone and Henry L. Simon.

40 YEARS OF THOUGHT, 3 WEEKS OF WRITING

Charles H. Levermore Explains Idea Is Use of Moral Force; Bok, in 'Condolence,' Says Winner May Be Investigated by Senators.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—It took only about three weeks to write the peace plan which brought him the $50,000 Bok prize awarded at Philadelphia last night, Charles H. Levermore said today, but it represented nearly 40 years of thinking and studying. The big thought behind the plan, he said, was the use of moral force, as against economic or military force.

"I am proud to be called a pacifist, using the word in its natural sense of peace maker," Dr. Levermore said. "I think that we are all pacifists in the sense that I am; we all would rather settle differences by peaceful means instead of using force."

Dr. Levermore never had communicated with former President Wilson about his peace plan, he said, adding that he did not believe Mr. Wilson would have liked it, as he would not want to accept reservations. If he was well enough to read the plan when it was made public, he probably said; otherwise he is up to his old command.

The winner said:

"The meeting at which the presentation was made was held here last night and filled the Academy of Music to overflowing. Miss Esther Everett Lape, member of the policy committee of the American Peace Award, which administered the competition, announced that, of 461,182 ballots had been cast and that it would, of these 49,927, or 12 per cent, had been against the plan, and $51,256, or 88 per cent, in favor of it."

Dr. Levermore was a classmate at Johns Hopkins of Woodrow Wilson and was for 19 years principal and president of the Adelphi College, Brooklyn. Since his resignation in 1912, he has been with the World Peace Foundation, the New York Peace Society, the World Council League, and the League of Nations Union. He is now secretary of the two latter organizations.

Address of Davis.

In presenting the award to Dr. Levermore, Davis said:

"It may justly be said that in all this plan does not bring forward anything fundamentally new or startling. Who can have supposed that it would? The days of miracles and magic are long since past, and only miracle could invent the world's greatest solution of the world's troubles never before dreamed of. It is the way to the law of falling bodies, he might be expected to refer to the attraction of gravitation. What entitles the plan to be called practicable is the very fact that it takes account of things as they are. The way to co-operate is to co-operate. Wisdom is justified of her children in the use of the tools that lie nearest hand."

There remains a question in which the author of the plan may justifiably feel some personal concern, but in which the country is perhaps even more concerned than that it, whether the plan will make an adequate degree of popular support, such as to warrant the payment of the remaining $50,000. This wide referendum now in

MEXICAN REBEL FORCES EVACUATE VERA CRUZ

De la Huerta, Leader of Revolution, and His Staff Said to Have Left City on Steamer for Unknown Destination.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Evacuation of Vera Cruz by De la Huerta, insurrectionists against the Obregon Government was reported today in consular advice received by the State Department.

The brief message merely announcing the evacuation was made public without comment.

Officials here do not know whether the step means that the rebel movement, which had its headquarters at Vera Cruz, definitely has collapsed. They have asked for further information.

The report reaching the State Department was signed by Consul Wood under date of Feb. 4, and read as follows: "This city was evacuated last evening."

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Adolfo de la Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolution, and his staff, have left Vera Cruz on a steamer for an unknown destination, according to information received here this afternoon from a reliable source.

The rebel troops, the source said, were evacuating the city.

"The evacuation of Vera Cruz by the Huerta forces, as reported, follows the exertion of military pressure on the city and district by the Mexican Federal Government, which has been waging an energetic campaign. The objective of the Obregon forces has been the railway junction of Cordoba, about 25 miles west of Vera Cruz, the capture of which would give the Federal a line isolating the rebels there from all the other rebellious groups in Mexico."

According to the latest advice, the Federal forces were within five miles of Cordoba, and Government advice seemed to consider its capture imminent.

Federal troops capture Fortin, six miles from Cordoba.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5.—The advance of the Federal troops against Vera Cruz gained ground yesterday, when the loyal forces captured the town of Fortin, six miles from the strategic railway junction of Cordoba, after a battle lasting more than seven hours.

The battle, in which rebel troops, under command of Gen. Gaudelup Sanchez, and the Federal, under Gen. Urbalejo, were engaged, took place under the Metate Canon, a redoubtable natural fortress, which was finally crossed by the Yaqui soldiers.

Gen. Urbalejo's cavalry and other cavalry forces, under Gen. Fausto Topete, struck both flanks of the enemy and succeeded in cutting off his rear communications, while the mounted troops of Gen. Quevedo fought in the bottom of the canyon protecting the infantry, according to special dispatches from the firing lines, which add that 7000 Federal and 5000 rebel troops took part in the engagement.

The occupation of Fortin has been officially confirmed, although no details will be given out by the Government until a report on the fighting is received from Gen. Martinez, in command of the army in this district.

In the sector of Oriental, Gen. Almazan has simultaneously started an advance against Jalapa, capital of the State of Vera Cruz, and on Teatlalpan, State of Puebla, which is the terminus of the railway branch. Gen. Almazan has arrived at Limon, eight miles from Perote, where the rebels are fortified.

5-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED BY AUTO THAT SPEEDS ON

Lad Run Over in Front of Home at 1708 South Broadway — Machine Driven by Negro.

With the death of a 5-year-old boy, run down by an automobile whose driver speeded up and escaped, automobile fatalities today numbered 24 for 1924, just twice the number for the corresponding period last year.

In two other instances of persons struck by automobiles within the last 24 hours, drivers feloniously fled from the scene, leaving injured behind; in a third instance, the driver surrendered later, and in a fourth, the driver was tried and arrested through the license law.

The boy killed was 5-year-old Michael Seitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Seitz of 1708 South Broadway. He ran across Broadway in front of his home to rejoin an older brother, who had crossed safely, about 5:40 p. m. yesterday, when a large maroon-colored touring car, northbound, struck him and then ran over him. The car, driven by a negro, slowed down at the curb, and another negro alighted. Then the driver turned east into Seward street. A passing mail truck conveyed the injured boy to the City Hospital, where he pronounced dead from a fracture of the skull.

Three Drivers Go on After Injuring Persons.

About 9 p. m. yesterday, a northbound car on Broadway, passing the Taylor car line loop, struck Joseph Fay, 11, of 710 Pope avenue. The driver fled. At city hospital, the boy was pronounced dead from a fracture of the skull.

Joseph Vassel and his wife, Helen, 19, of 1602 Market street, were crossing the street at 1307 South Broadway, about 6 p. m. An automobile going north slowed down, but another machine, from behind, struck them. Both were taken to the city hospital. Vassel being treated for a fractured right leg and his wife for bruises. Witnesses gave the police the license of the automobile and they arrested Samuel Trovitz of 1917 South Second street, who admitted his machine struck the couple, but said he did not think they were injured.

Walter Neils of 3148 South Grand boulevard, and Lawrence Schleicher of 3445 Lafayette avenue, were bruised by an automobile at Grand boulevard and Lafayette avenue, about 9 p. m. today. Frank Boehm of 1908 Sidney street, a baker, surrendered at the Manolia Avenue Police Station, and said he was the driver. He was held for felonious wounding and leaving the scene of an accident.

Mrs. Alverda Beline of 3041 Cass avenue, was waiting in her coupe for her husband at Sixteenth street and Clark avenue, about 9:30 p. m. when the machine was struck by a truck. She was treated for scalp wounds and shock. The driver of the truck was arrested.

About 1 a. m., Thomas Furey of 618 North Broadway, was driving west, when in front of 5955 Minerva avenue, the lights of another machine caused him to swerve into an automobile parked at the curb. In the car also were his wife and Mrs. Ruth Hawthorne of 5035A Wells avenue, carrying her five-month-old baby. Inspector of Police James E. Vasey, who was passing, heard the crash. He took the woman to a physician's home, where Mrs. Hawthorne was treated for a fracture of the skull and knee cap, and Mrs. Furey for injuries to the temple bone and leg. He made an investigation and arrested George Chadeayne of 5954 Minerva avenue, on a charge of parking the car without lights.

Many Hurt in Vienna Storm.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, Feb. 5.—Vienna has been in the grip of a great storm since Saturday night. The wind has been blowing with hurricane violence. Roofs have been swept from buildings, chimneys leveled and many persons have been injured. The fire brigade was called out 32 times on Sunday.

GOVERNMENT BUSINESS TO BE SUSPENDED ON AFTERNOON OF FUNERAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — THE HOUSE and the technicality of the law forbids it, the great executive departments of the Government will suspend their multitudinous activities tomorrow afternoon as an expression of respect for former President Wilson.

Under an old statute, work cannot be suspended because of the death of a former official, but President Coolidge and his Cabinet found a way today to make an exception to that requirement. It was decided that no executive order should be issued by the President, but that each Secretary would inform those under him that nothing would be required of them after 12:30 p. m. on the funeral day.

Denied the privilege of paying tribute in a state funeral ceremony, Mr. Coolidge and his advisers decided that at least the Federal Government should give homage to its former chief by standing silent while his body is consigned to its last rest.

'MAHATMA' GANDHI FREED FROM PRISON

Indian Nationalist Leader, Sentenced for Sedition, Released on Government's Order.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Bombay Government has ordered the release of Gandhi, the Indian nationalist leader, who on March 18, 1922, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment for sedition.

By the Associated Press.
BOMBAY, Ind., Feb. 5.—"Mahatma," Mohandas Gandhi, the Indian nationalist leader, has been released from prison unconditionally by order of the Government.

Gandhi was sentenced to sedition in connection with the non-cooperation movement. He gained his title of "Mahatma," or "Wonder Worker," through his power and personal magnetism.

Recently the nationalist leader has been in a hospital. The action of the Government was taken on recommendation of the attending physician, who declared that six months at the seaside was necessary for his convalescence.

ANTI-SOVIET GENERAL IS SENTENCED TO DEATH

Twenty of His Followers Also Are Convicted—Emergency May Be Granted.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—Gen. Pepelayer, former commander of the Siberian White Army and 20 of his followers, have been sentenced to death by the military tribunal at Chita for their counter-revolutionary activities in Siberia after Kolchak's defeat. Fifty-seven others were given various prison terms.

The Rev. Dr. John W. MacIvor, who does not yet have been carried out, Gen. Pepelayer has asked for mercy, which it is thought will be granted.

Gen. Pepelayer, with his staff of about 100 officers, was captured by Soviet forces last July, putting an end to the last resistance of the whites to the Soviet regime in Siberia. He and his followers had been conducting operations in the Northern Okhotsk district for many months.

BEGGAR 'WORKS' CROWD AT HIS SON'S WEDDING

Polish Mendicant in London Quickly Changes Festival Garb for Usual Clothing.

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Jan. 22.—When an elderly Pole, whose name was stated to be Alter Turkits, was charged at Thomas Police Court yesterday with begging, it was stated that between 25 and 35 worth of coppers were found upon him.

Police Constable Aylett, alias inquiry officer, said that the prisoner had been previously convicted for similar offenses. On the last occasion £118 was found upon him, and on the second £130. The witness added: "When his son was married he came out of the synagogue during the ceremony dressed in good clothes and a silk hat, and hurrying home, changed into poor clothing, and returned to the synagogue, begged from the people as they left the building."

Justice Denison sentenced the prisoner to six weeks' imprisonment, with hard labor, and recommended him for deportation.

WOODROW WILSON WILL BE BURIED TOMORROW WITHOUT A SERMON OR A EULOGY

SERVICES HERE FOR WILSON AT NOON TOMORROW

Memorial Meeting at the Orpheum Theater, With Speaking and Singing of Hymns.

CIVIC BODIES TO HOLD EXERCISES

Next Sunday Has Been Designated, by Governor's Proclamation, for Memorial Gatherings.

A noonday memorial service in honor of Woodrow Wilson will be held tomorrow in the Orpheum Theater. This will be the chief memorial observance here, so far as now planned, though Sunday has been designated, by the Governor's proclamation, for memorial gatherings throughout the State.

The time and place of tomorrow's meeting were determined at a meeting held in the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon, on the call of Acting Mayor Neun, and attended by about 60 men and 20 women. The sentiment of the meeting was that the Wilson memorial gathering should be, as nearly as possible, like that held last summer, in the Municipal Theater, on the day of the funeral of President Harding.

It was found, however, that the Coliseum could not be had, as preparations for the Wagner concert would be under way at the hour at which it was desired to hold the meeting. It was then decided to accept the tender of the Orpheum, made by Manager Edward J. Sullivan, and to hold the meeting at noon, so that church choir singers and for Army officers who have been invited.

A draped photograph of the former President will be displayed on the stage and a color guard of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps will be present.

The meeting will begin promptly at noon, and is planned to last one hour. The Rev. Dr. John W. MacIvor, of the Second Presbyterian Church will pronounce the invocation, and the choir will lead the gathering in singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

Speaking and Singing.

Acting Mayor Neun will introduce Frederick D. Gardner, former Governor, as chairman, and 10-minute addresses will be delivered by Archbishop Glendon, Rabbi Leon Harrison and George S. Johns, editor of the Post-Dispatch editorial page.

After the singing of "America," Bishop Johnson of the Episcopal Church will offer prayer, and the ceremony will end with "Taps" by an army bugler.

Military honors will be paid Wilson at Jefferson Baracks tomorrow. The ceremony, as outlined in an order from Washington today, will be as follows: The flag will be at half mast all day; a 13-gun salute will be fired at 9 a. m., followed by a firing of a single gun every half hour until retreat, when the final salute of 48 guns will be fired. President Coolidge's proclamation of mourning will be read to a parade of all troops at the barracks at 10 a. m.

Churches have been requested to toll their bells at noon, to mark the opening of the memorial meeting.

Memorial resolutions are being adopted by various bodies, and copies will be sent to Mrs. Wilson. The East St. Louis City Council voted such a memorial yesterday, and resolutions were adopted by the Methodist Episcopal ministers at their weekly meeting. The Optimist Club took similar action.

Station KSD, of the Post-Dispatch, will broadcast the noonday memorial service in the Orpheum.

GERMAN EMBASSY, UNDER BERLIN'S ORDERS, MAKES NO DISPLAY OF MOURNING

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — Y direction of the Berlin Government, the German Embassy has refrained from making any display of mourning for Woodrow Wilson.

No flag has been flown over the embassy at any time since Mr. Wilson's death, although the other embassies and legations have had their colors half-masted since the official notification reached them before noon on Sunday.

Baron Leopold Plessen, third secretary at the embassy, made this explanation:

"The German Government considers the late Mr. Woodrow Wilson a private citizen, and therefore has instructed the German embassy to refrain from any official display of mourning."

When Mr. Wilson died, the State Department, following the diplomatic custom, notified the French Ambassador, Jules Jusserand, who is dean of the diplomatic corps. The Ambassador promptly notified all of his colleagues and flags on the diplomatic missions were at once displayed at half-mast. Failure of the German embassy to show its colors in mourning was not at first noted. When the lack of a flag was observed and an inquiry as to the reason made at the embassy, Baron Plessen made his statement. State Department officials would not comment.

The Austrian legation also failed to display a flag today, but officials said they would fly their country's ensign at half-mast on the day of the funeral. The flag of the Hungarian legation has been at half-mast since Mr. Wilson's death was announced.

TWO PSALMS AND FAVORITE BIBLICAL PASSAGES WILL BE READ AT SERVICES

There Will Be No Music at Ceremony in Home, to Be Attended Only by Family and Close Friends

UNITED STATES ARE TO BE BROADCAST

Soldiers, Sailors and Marines in Guard of Honor — President and Cabinet Will Be Present.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A driving February rainstorm drove the last stragglers today from before the quiet home where Woodrow Wilson awaits the last tender simple honors it was his wish should alone mark his funeral rites. Tomorrow, in the room below his death chamber, walls with the books he loved, brief words of religious hope and consolation will be spoken with his loved ones, and just a few friends and distinguished men present to hear them. Then his wasted body will be carried to the marble niche that awaits it in the National Cathedral.

The home service will be without music. The Rev. James H. Taylor, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church here, where Mr. Wilson worshipped, will read the comforting words of the Twenty-third Psalm—"Yes, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil." Dr. Elyvester Beach, pastor of the church at Princeton which he attended in those days of collegiate peace before greatness sought him out, will speak in prayer, and Bishop James E. Freeman of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington will close the brief service.

Favorite Scriptural Passages.

The grieving family were preparing for this closing part of the simple religious ceremony. They were selecting from a devotional book which it had been for years Mr. Wilson's habit to read at night as he read his scriptures; those selections he loved best. Bishop Freeman will read these just before the casket is lifted by the stanch pillars of the army, navy and marine corps and carried out to the waiting hearse.

At the chapel the public service will be little more elaborate. The surprised choir will sing softly at the casket is carried to the altar rail and again just before the benediction, but there will be no sermon or spoken eulogy—just the reading of the nineteenth psalm and the prayers for the dead with the three clergymen again sharing in the service. Only the presence of a few diplomats and distinguished officials of the Government, headed for eight hard years, will mark this as the funeral of a man whose name is written large in world history.

Congress will stand idle for the day, despite its pressing rush of waiting business, and the great Government departments will be closed in honor of the dead. The nation's business will be at a standstill, while at sea, where American ships ride, and at the ports where American soldiers or marines stand guard, the boom of minute guns will sound through the day. This, alone, may the nation share in the final parting with this man who held at the last his title of plain American citizen higher than any other honor that could come to him.

Service to Be Broadcast.

The chapel service is to be carried out over the country by radio, that distant listeners may share in the service.

WOMAN LOSES HER $500,000 SUIT AGAINST CANDLER

Jury, After Short Deliberation, Returns Verdict for Coca-Cola "King" in Breach of Promise Action

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 5.—The jury in the suit of Mrs. Onelma de Bouchel of New Orleans against Asa G. Candler, Coca-Cola King of Atlanta, alleging breach of promise, after brief deliberation today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

In his charge to the jury, the court delved at length into Nevada State law in regard to the validity of divorce decrees. He said the present case hinged on the question whether Mrs. De Bouchel was a resident of Nevada when she obtained her divorce. If the plaintiff had established proper residence in that State, he declared, then the court had a right to act. If not, the jury decided the stay had not been a bona fide residence, her divorce was illegal, notwithstanding the decision of Nevada courts.

5 MEN GET $10,000 IN BANK HOLDUP AT CHAMPAIGN, ILL.

By the Associated Press.
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 5.—Five men at noon today held up employees of the Commercial Bank, an east side institution, and obtained approximately $10,000. A check is being made to determine the exact amount.

The robbers were masked and escaped in an automobile.

AUTO DRIVEN BY ALCOHOL WINS

By the Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, Feb. 5.—An automobile of Swedish manufacture, driven by Swedish motor alcohol, yesterday won a race against several American cars driven by gasoline imported from the United States.

As a result, the Liquor Control Board has recommended the repeal of all restrictions on the sale of motor alcohol.

Macdonald to Take One Salary of £5000; He Could Take Two

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Premier Macdonald has decided to accept a single salary of only £5000, although filling the dual offices of First Lord of the Treasury and Foreign Secretary.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Ramsay MacDonald does not intend to remain Foreign Minister as well as Premier for long. He proposes to hold the Foreign Affairs portfolio until pending difficulties with France are straightened out. He believes there can be settled within a few months and then he will make Air Minister Thomson Foreign Minister. The Minister was created Baron Thomson by the King, who also made Barons of two other members of the Labor Cabinet, Sir Sydney Olivier and Sydney Arnold. The Cabinet met yesterday and considered reports from committees on agriculture, housing and unemployment, and also questions of foreign and Indian policy. Two more Cabinet meetings will be held this week in preparation for an announcement of the Government's intentions when Parliament reconvenes Feb. 12.

Macdonald May Go to Paris

The Marquis of Crewe, British Ambassador in Paris, saw Macdonald yesterday and discussed specific questions regarding France and Premier Poincare's general attitude toward the Ruhr, reparations and the expert committee. The Ambassador was optimistic and believes Poincare, with his position shaken at home, is prepared to make important concessions. This view is not shared by important diplomatic circles and in Paris, including the American embassy there.

Macdonald also discussed with Lord Crewe the advisability of himself going to Paris soon for a personal interview with Poincare. This is not settled, but the Premier seems toward the trip and it is possible Lord Crewe on his return to Paris, will announce it.

The three Laborites elevated to the Peerage do not belong to the ranks of manual workers. Sydney Arnold of Manchester is a former Liberal and comes from the middle class. Sir Sydney Olivier was educated at Oxford, was secretary to the Earl of Selborne, and was Governor of Jamaica. Gen. Thomson is the son of Major-General Thomson, who was physician to Queen Victoria and King Edward. So it cannot be said that the House of Lords yet contains a single representative of the working class.

Workers in Royal Household. The appointment of three 100 per cent trade union Laborites to positions in the King's household has caused considerable amusement. However, the titular entrance of hony-hardened tons of toll into the royal palace is much more in name than fact.

Tom Griffiths, as treasurer of the King's household; J. A. Parkinson, as comptroller of the King's household, and J. E. Davidson, as vice chamberlain, are not likely to have any personal contact with Majesty except upon a few ceremonial occasions, such as the King's rare attendance at the House of Lords.

Premier Macdonald, with full consideration for the King's personal inclinations, is not making any changes in the officials who handle his "privy purse," his equeries and beds in the royal household.

But the bestowal of even these ceremonial household appointments has given the country another emphatic notification of the change in the basic character of the British Government. Griffiths, Labor whip since 1915, first went to work as a half-timer at 8 cents a day. For a short time he attended Ruskin College, Oxford, working his way and supporting himself. His wife and children on $12.50 a week. Parkinson has been an M. P. since Wilson's 1918. He began work as a half-timer in a coal mine when he was 17 and went on full time when 12. Altogether he worked 25 years in mines.

Members Stand While Speakers Praise the Foremost Advocate of Peace and Conciliation.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Feb. 5.—Sir Eric Drummond, General Secretary of the League of Nations, today on behalf of his colleagues of the secretariat the following statement on the death of Woodrow Wilson:

"Nowhere in the world will the death of Mr. Wilson be felt more acutely than amongst those at Geneva, who while he has lain stricken on his sick bed have been privileged to take part directly in the exhausted nations as the high principles of international co-operation and conciliation for which he may truly be said to have given his life.

Undoubtedly the greatest of our spiritual leaders has passed away, a man who had the opportunity granted to few indeed of standing at a crossroads in history and pointing out a new way for his fellow-men.

"Mr. Wilson came to Europe at the end of the world's most desperate war and stood in the councils of the exhausted nations as the acknowledged champion of a new hope and a new vision. In the main Mr. Wilson triumphed, for his hope for an association of nations, for an ordered method of arbitration, for a permanent agency of peace, were inscribed as part 1 of the treaties, slowly at first, but with increasing faith, other nations joined towards this new ideal while Mr. Wilson himself was making his last fight at home.

"With that struggle we on this side have no concern. While the entry of the United States caused a serious dislocation of the original ideas of the league, it shortly became manifest, first, that an international association was one the less essential at this moment of history, and, secondly, that such an association could perform a useful service even if seriously handicapped by events beyond its control.

"So the work has gone on, ever increasing in scope and importance and bringing always more nations and wider interests about the common council table. The passing of Mr. Wilson, while taking away the great advocate of international co-operation, will provide due and sober inspiration for those of us at Geneva, who are most insufficiently, but to the best of our powers, attempting to carry out the ideals which he set.

"Mr. Wilson has gone, but the work which he gave his life, has only just begun.

Secretary Drummond telegraphed Mrs. Wilson a message of sympathy on behalf of himself and his colleagues.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Feb. 5.—A dramatic scene marked the public tribute paid yesterday at the session of the League of Nations Commission for the Reduction of Armaments to the memory of Woodrow Wilson.

Men of eminence representing the old and new worlds, who have gathered in Geneva to study how best to curb the great world danger of armaments addressed a large gathering, which stood reverentially and declared that "Wilson's name would stand forth in history unummed and imperishable, as that of the great apostle of peace and conciliation."

The American Minister to Switzerland, Joseph C. Grew, and Norman H. Davis, under Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, were present. This was the first time an American minister had participated in the league's activities, and the coming of Mr. Grew is interpreted here as a favorable indication of the attitude of the United States.

Placed High in History. The tenor of all the addresses was that Woodrow Wilson had won one of the great places in history. Signor Schanzer, former Italian Foreign Minister, said that the illustrious founder of the league had translated the idea of the league into practice, and the world would never forget his achievement.

Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, who has done more than anybody to carry on Mr. Wilson's work for the league and who himself will be replaced on the council by Lord Parmoor, dwelt on the former President's undaunted courage and unflinching faith that his fellow-countrymen would eventually accept the ideas he deemed essential to the happiness of mankind.

Dr. Souza of Brazil and Senor Urrutia of Uruguay testified to the high position occupied by Mr. Wilson in the minds of South Americans.

In his response, the American Minister said: "Such tributes showed that Woodrow Wilson be-

WILSON MAN OF HIGH IDEAS, THOROUGH IN HIS HONESTY, CARDINAL MERCIER SAYS

BRUSSELS, Feb. 5.—ARNDAL MERCIER, Prime Minister of Belgium, who stood out a notable figure against the invasion of his country by the Germans, made the following statement yesterday on the death of President Wilson:

"Mr. Wilson, when he called on me at Mechlin struck me as a man of high ideas, thorough in his honesty, honest in his thoroughness. We in Belgium must never forget the invaluable aid which the United States extended to the people of our country while under German occupation. The support given to Mr. Hoover by President Wilson undoubtedly served to enable the former to carry his magnificent task to a successful issue.

"The splendid energy, too, with which President Wilson undertook the enormous problem created by the participation of the United States in the war, and the firmness of purpose and indomitable tenacity with which he threw the whole nation's resources into the scale at once in the war must ever be remembered. This was all the more praiseworthy because of the reluctance of the idealist of peace among nations, must have felt before taking this decisive step. May God rest his soul."

longed not to the United States alone, but to the world.

M. Branting, president of the Council of the League, sent to Mrs. Wilson a message expressing the deep-felt and respectful sympathy of himself and his colleagues in the League, declaring that they would always remember that President Wilson had "contributed more than any other to the creation of this organization for international co-operation and conciliation."

Minister Grew informed the commission for the reduction of armaments that the American Government felt a sympathetic interest in its labors and hoped they would be successful. The United States was no less anxious than other Powers to obtain suitable control over the traffic in arms.

Mr. Branting, president of the Council of the League, sent to Mrs. Wilson a message expressing the deep-felt and respectful sympathy of himself and his colleagues in the League, declaring that they would always remember that President Wilson had "contributed more than any other to the creation of this organization for international co-operation and conciliation."

Minister Grew informed the commission for the reduction of armaments that the American Government felt a sympathetic interest in its labors and hoped they would be successful. The United States was no less anxious than other Powers to obtain suitable control over the traffic in arms.

plished something which appeared to be impossible; he persuaded a young nation to fight for an ideal without expecting the slightest compensation for the sacrifices entailed. A man capable of this miracle," declared Harden, "cannot have been a small man."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says that in Paris Mr. Wilson betrayed his trust and degraded himself, to become the tool of the most gigantic swindle ever perpetrated on a conquered people.

FRENCH PAPERS ON DEATH OF WILSON

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1924. PARIS, Feb. 4.—The Paris press today is voicing the general sorrow at the death of Woodrow Wilson. Extracts from typical editorials follow:

Le Temps: Wilson is not one of those men who after being too happy and admired all their lives are forgotten. He endured his purgatory on earth.

L'Intransigeant: We salute a noble soul. He loved justice. He was our friend.

Le Eve Nouvelle: Wilson sacrificed everything—political career, his very life—for one ideal, the League of Nations, and that ideal is on the threshold of triumphing.

Le Petit Parisien: It was not granted to him to realize his ideals, but French women for each of whom he saved a child, husband or brother, lament him.

Le Matin: To him we owe to a great extent the entry of America into the war.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Feb. 5.—Scant eulogy has appeared in the newspapers of Woodrow Wilson. Most of the journals recall the variance of his views with those of the Italian.

The fascist organ, Impero, ends a long editorial article as follows: "In the tomb of Wilson we shed no tears nor place a flower. One can forgive, but not forget."

The Epoca says the former President believed in abstract formulas rather than in national realities. It is not granted to him to realize his ideals, but French women for each of whom he saved a child, husband or brother, lament him.

Il Mondo alone in its editorial gives a touch of reverence for the dead statesman.

"Today on his death bed," it says, "a little memorial shall be provided, perhaps in the great transept of the cathedral itself, to hold forever the body of Woodrow Wilson, war President and victor, who sacrificed to the peace for which he gave his life."

Many of the many who would come to express their feelings at the services if they could find place can be admitted either to the private exercises in the home or to the public ceremony at the cathedral. At the home only the family and a little group of closest friends can find standing room. There can be no place for the plain folks who have no other means of expressing their sorrow and admiration than to stand for long hours along the short guardway where the funeral train will pass. For them as well as for himself President Coolidge will go to the house with Mrs. Coolidge and follow the casket to the place of entombment. In that public ceremony, however, he will be surrounded by his Cabinet in the honor of a dead Commander-in-Chief under whom the war army fought.

Eight noncommissioned officers of the army, with eight sailor and eight marine colleagues of similar rank and record will form the little guard of honor about the hearse on the brief journey from the S street house to the chapel. They alone will touch the casket.

WILSON'S FINAL GUARD OF HONOR

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Woodrow Wilson's final guard of honor, who will convey his body from the scene of his last activities and to the place of entombment, will be representative of the fighting arms of the nation.

Eight sailors, chosen from the crew of the presidential yacht Mayflower, will symbolize the great armada of American fighting ships that went to war under Mr. Wilson when he was President; eight soldiers will perform their final duty in the name of the military millions that had their place in the war army of which Mr. Wilson was Commander in Chief; eight marines will add to the tombment a fresh memory of the glories of far-battlefields like Belleau Wood.

From among these 24 will be selected those who actually will carry him forth from the quiet home where he sought and found solace after the final fever of his last days and will lower him last into that place of deeper repose in the crypt of the great cathedral.

Upon the roll of those who will do these final honors for the fallen leader the Government today placed these names:

For the marine corps: Elynn C. Rowe, gunnery sergeant, Sidney, N. Y., who wears the Croix de Guerre with bronze star; William C. Clifton, gunnery sergeant, Southland, Ky.; John J. Agnew, staff sergeant, Baltimore, Md.; John Dunn, sergeant, Patterson, N. J.; Richard S. Perkins, sergeant, Montgomery, Ala.; Joseph W. Cole, man, corporal, Lanett, Ala.; Paul O. Moyle, sergeant, Elm City, N. C.; Frank J. Moran, corporal, Syracuse, N. Y.

The list of those who will represent the army is not yet complete.

Mrs. Wilson Preks Washington Should Be Burial Place

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson feels that Washington should be the resting place of her late husband, John, Randolph Bolling, secretary of America's war-time President, stated in a telegram replying to a request of the Virginia General Assembly that Mr. Wilson be buried in Hollywood Cemetery here.

Bolling's telegram, addressed to John W. Williams, keeper of the rolls at the State Capitol, follows: "Mrs. Wilson is deeply grateful for your kind message and the generous offer of the House of Representatives and Senate of Virginia. She wishes me to say that, while she is deeply touched by the tribute from Virginia, his native State, that she feels that Washington is the place where Mr. Wilson did his great work for the nation and which he chose as his home, should be the place where he will rest."

When Wilson Came to St. Louis on Preparedness Tour

The tracks of the fugitives. Several times in the course of the day "tips" were under surveillance in adjoining counties, but investigation proved the suspects were not escaped convicts. When Rush's office there was some delay in assembling a posse, due to the fact that most of the guards were running down the street, the posse was directed that other employees of the prison be pressed into service to investigate the Rush "tip."

Sawed Bars of Cell.
As told yesterday, the convicts saved two bars in the steel grating between their cell and the corridor in "B" hall, southernmost of the cell buildings, while the floor guard was on the north side of the structure behind another grating. They sawed their way to the basement, sawed a bar in a window grating on the south side and reached the south factory enclosure.

To their left was the subterranean, long, low frame structure, with a little frame guard "shanty" which, between his rounds, housed James Hart, 60, a guard. He apparently was surprised outside the shanty, struck on the head with a blunt instrument, probably one of the "sawed" bars, and severely injured. He was at first believed he had died from a crushed skull, but an autopsy disclosed his death was due to strangulation, the ear killing him.

With Hart's revolver and a makeshift ladder taken from a new factory building under erection, the prisoners ran about 300 yards to the south wall of the prison and mounted to a tower guard platform in which E. A. Lavelle, a tower guard, was on duty. After exchanging shots with Lavelle the convicts descended a stationary ladder hanging to the street from the tower and fled through one of the principal residential sections of the capital.

Older residents of Jefferson City today declared it the most daring and spectacular escape since Vaughn, Ryan and Raymond dined the main gate at the penitentiary, after killing a Deputy Warden and two guards, 19 years ago, and then ran through the city getting away without a greater effort being made to stop them.

Results of the investigation are not known yet, but the three guards, Lavelle, J. N. Williams and S. L. Boyce, are under suspension, and at least two other guards will be questioned today. The Commissioners are investigating a report that after the exchange of shots between the escaping convicts and the tower guard, someone within the prison walls shouted up to Guard Lavelle: "They must have awakened you."

The quadruple tragedy yesterday is the culmination of a long series of escapes and attempts to escape in progress at the penitentiary for several months.

One Convict's Fate.
One convict, it will be recalled, hooked a broomstick across a pair of electric light wires and while a guard watched, open-mouthed, slid from the top of a prison factory to the high north wall, dropped to the ground and fled. He has not been captured.

Then an automatic pistol, fully loaded, believed to have been stolen by trustees from a guard in the Executive Mansion, was found and confiscated in the cell of a convict. A short time later budding plans to escape from beneath one of the prison factories out below the south wall were discovered and the digging tools, rope and other assembly supplies of the venture were found under the factory floor and confiscated.

At least four different sets of convicts were found hiding inside the stockade, intending apparently to try their luck at the walls under cover of darkness, and one pair was apprehended trying to saw bars blocking egress through the main sewer from the prison to the Missouri River nearby.

Delcor, 37 years old, was serving 45 years from Shannon County for murder. He had served two previous terms of two years each, the first from Shannon, beginning in 1905, for forgery and the other in 1918, from Jasper County, for burglary.

McFady, 25 years old, was serving 10 years from Jackson County for robbery and had served a previous term of two years from the same county for grand larceny.

Thomson, who was 22, was at first years from Jefferson County for burglary and larceny. He also had served time at the State Reformatory for Boys at Booneville, from the same county.

Thomas May 28 escaped from a Deputy Sheriff of Hillsboro, Mo., when they were waiting for a train at Tower Grove Station in St. Louis and ran through the city getting away without a greater effort being made to stop them.

Results of the investigation are not known yet, but the three guards, Lavelle, J. N. Williams and S. L. Boyce, are under suspension, and at least two other guards will be questioned today. The Commissioners are investigating a report that after the exchange of shots between the escaping convicts and the tower guard, someone within the prison walls shouted up

Missouri also are feeling the effects of the blizzard.

Press association and commercial telegraph wires in all directions out of Chicago were put out of commission last night except to the northwest, where facilities are badly crippled. The Associated Press resorted to the use of radio to broadcast the news it was able to gather to morning newspapers which were unable to maintain wire communication with the Chicago office, the largest news relay point in the world. The broadcasting was done from station WMAQ, on the roof of the Hotel La Salle. WMAQ is the Chicago Daily News broadcasting station.

Such news as arrived in Chicago by wire from the East last night came through Seattle to St. Paul and thence to Chicago. Chicago wire service is being maintained to the East today by way of Denver, where news is relayed back to St. Louis and thence to New York.

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 5.—The village of Woonsocket, eight miles north of here, was almost totally destroyed by a storm Sunday night. Three stores, two blacksmith shops, the school, postoffice, three residences and a number of barns were partially destroyed. No one was injured seriously.

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 5.—Stalled trains, street-frozen, broken wires and high drifted roads today followed the violent wind and snowstorm that raged throughout the middle and Northwest yesterday and last night. In Wisconsin towns travelers from seven passenger trains today awaited the coming of snow plows, their trains having been stopped by drifts in some places reported 10 feet deep. At Waukegan, Wis., a Chicago & Northwestern train was reported stalled near a grain elevator. A tangled mass of telephone and telegraph wires near Tomah, Wis., resulted in cutting off some Chicago circuits. Davenport, Ia., according to radio messages, is cut off from communication to the North or East and the severest storm of the winter, with 50-mile gale blowing, prevailed today at Zion, Ill. Temperatures were not exceptionally low during yesterday or last night.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 5.—Lower Michigan lies beneath a glaze of ice today, with transportation crippled and communication partially interrupted. Rain frozen in the streets makes motor and pedestrian traffic precarious. In Central Michigan and in the upper part of the lower Peninsula, drifted snows and zero temperatures are reported following a severe blizzard of yesterday. In Central Michigan bus lines have canceled their scheduled runs and are running late. Merrill McLean, 17, of Flint, Mich., was killed early today when the automobile he was driving was struck by a Pere Marquette train. An ice-coated windshield dimmed his view. Ice rails that prevented an interurban car from stopping caused the death of Mrs. Esther Wilson, 45, and Mrs. Doris Ruhn.

THREE DIRECTORY SOLICITORS HELD

Accused of Seeking Advertising and Subscriptions for Abandoned Project.

A woman and two men, accused of soliciting advertising and subscriptions for a directory which was abandoned by the association sponsoring it 18 months ago, are under arrest today for questioning.

They are Charles Kollmeyer, a former Deputy Internal Revenue Collector; Burt Wells and Miss Catherine Quigley. Complaint was made by the St. Louis local, National Federal Employees' Association.

Kollmeyer formerly was secretary of the St. Louis branch, but six months ago was dismissed from Federal employment for incidents growing out of services performed for other Government employees.

The local branch of the Government Employees' Association decided in 1922 to issue a directory of all Federal employees in St. Louis, together with a manual on income tax reports and other information. This directory was to carry advertising. A staff of solicitors was recruited to visit business firms and banks. Later, officers of the association learned that solicitors were acting irregularly and the directory plan was withdrawn.

However, a number of solicitors went on soliciting. It is alleged, and checks received were made payable to Kollmeyer.

MANY KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Nine Bodies Recovered After Blast in Ukraine.

By the Associated Press.
RIGA, Feb. 5.—Many persons were killed and 50 injured as the result of an explosion in a gunsmith's store at Kharkov, the Ukrainian capital, on Feb. 1. Nine charred bodies already have been recovered.

The explosion occurred in a seven-story building where the Ukrainian food commissariat and several other institutions are. A panic ensued and many of the occupants jumped from windows. Much damage was done in the neighborhood.

40, late last night at a grade crossing near Tplanti.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 5.—Loss to telegraph, telephone and transportation lines as a result of the storm in this section today is estimated at $1,000,000. Trains are reported stalled and telegraphic and telephonic communication at a standstill. Street cars are stalled. Taxicab companies are refusing calls except on emergency car hire. Much damage to automobiles was caught in snow drifts.

Pastor's Wife and Son Killed in Blast

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 4.—The home of the Rev. W. W. Carpenter, Presbyterian minister, was demolished here last night by a tornado and his wife and oldest son were killed. Six other members of the family, including the Rev. Mr. Carpenter, were badly hurt.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 5.—Property damage which is estimated will reach several hundred thousand dollars, was caused by a tornado which swept across Southern Indiana yesterday.

The tornado, which was followed by hail and rain, swept a path approximately a mile wide, causing destruction in the outskirts of this city. Seven miles north of here and at Naubert, 17 miles north. So far as has been learned no one was killed or injured. Four homes, an amusement park and a school house were leveled on the outskirts of Evansville. At Fort Branch several homes were destroyed.

Blizzard at Jefferson City and Southwest Missouri

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—Jefferson City and surrounding territory has been visited by one of the winter's fiercest blizzards. A cold, drizzling snow began falling early this morning. The blizzard also hit Southwest Missouri. A heavy rain yesterday at Joplin gave way to snow, driven by a wind reaching almost the proportions of a gale and which sent the mercury down.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 5.—Kansas City has eight inches of snow, with a stiff north wind.

Blizzards and abandoned cars have tied up the highways running west from Kansas City. Missouri Pacific train No. 12 from San Francisco, due to leave at 11:45 yesterday, was postponed for 10:10 today. Associated Press news from the East was received in Kansas City via Atlanta and New Orleans.

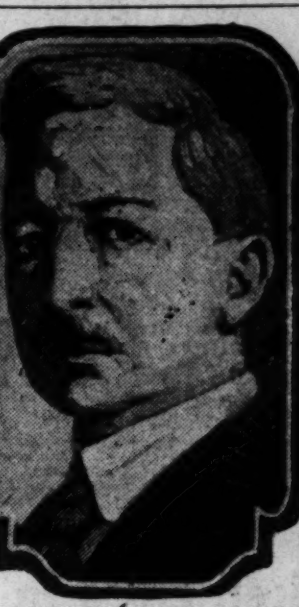

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 5.—As a result of one of the worst storms of the winter, railroad and interurban traffic here is almost at a standstill, while telegraph and telephone service is in a deplorable state. A hard rain followed by sleet, a heavy wind and a cold wave played havoc with the wires. Electric trains on the Illinois Traction system have been stalled along the line. A car leaving for Bloomington at 5 o'clock yesterday was stalled near a cornfield eight miles from the city for 12 hours. The car was loaded with passengers.

Springfield reports its sidewalks and streets in a glassy condition.

Officer in Peace Societies Is Winner of $50,000 Bok Peace Prize

Author of Successful Plan, Who Is in Moderate Circumstances, Says He Was "Staggered" When He Learned of Good Fortune.

WINNER OF BOK PRIZE

progress may be expected to determine. It is not for us now to forecast or predict its results.

Cardinal Merit of League.
"Realizing that 54 nations of the world were also organized for the purposes of peace, the author brushed aside as belonging to the sphere of pure fancy and not of practical politics any effort to induce them to abandon the structure they had built and start afresh from a new foundation.

"Conscious of the fixed determination of America to maintain the Monroe doctrine inviolate and to preserve its own independence of action, he makes adequate provision for both.

"Looking at the league not only as it is, but as it will more and more become, he recognizes truly that its great function is to be the instrument of mutual counsel. He believes its cardinal merit to be that it makes international conference organized, not casual, and he trusts it will breed in the fullness of time a new habit of life and a new spirit in the world."

Davis said dissatisfaction with the plan would come from continued isolationism and from those who desire full membership in the league. A third class of objectors he added, might be those to whom the very name of League of Nations is anathema.

Answering these critics, Davis declared no nation had the right to close the gates of the future on itself.

"Can we not all agree," he continued, "that America, no less than the rest of the world needs insurance against the hideous scourge of war?"

"America Has Duties."
"Can we not all confess that if she has duties no less to perform? Any willing that coming generations should say that we of this day had neither the vision nor the courage to form any substitute for the old system of groups and alliances and balances of power that has so often led the shuddering multitude to the edge of the precipice and beyond?"

"Identified, if there is a substitute to be found, it must be one that meets the common conscience of mankind, and one from no nation has the moral right to hold itself aloof. If we have good faith, we must desire to promote the cause of lasting peace, she can do it only by organized co-operation with the rest of mankind. She cannot have all the best of two divergent worlds."

Outline of Winning Plan.
The plan which won the Bok peace award for Dr. Levermore was incidentally provoked by the Senate inquiry on the manner of its selection, is briefly as follows:

1. That the United States shall immediately enter the permanent Court of International Justice, under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

2. That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States shall offer to extend its present co-operation with the league as a body of mutual counsel under conditions that substitute moral force and public opinion for the military and economic force originally implied in articles 10 and 16; safeguard the Monroe doctrine; accept the fact that the United States will assume no obligations under the treaty of Versailles except by act of Congress, and provide for the continuing development of international law.

3. That the United States propose that membership in the league be open to all nations.

Miss Lape Defends "Propaganda."
Miss Lape, who recently was called upon by the Senate committee to testify regarding the methods used in awarding the prize, emphatically denied in her address that the award had any political implication.

Describing her testimony before the committee, which was authorized to ascertain whether there was organized propaganda to control the action of the Senate, she continued: "It would be entirely proper for the American Peace Award or any other body to organize 'propaganda' in the interest of world peace. And it will be a sorry day for the United States when the views of the American people are irrelevant to Senators.

As a matter of fact, we did not in this case create popular interest in international co-operation because we did not need it."

The speaker requested, in behalf of the committee, that if the Senate investigation is intended to interfere with the referendum which is being held on the winning plan, "will you see to it that the purpose is not accomplished?"

Bok Sends "Condolences."
Melville E. Stone, counselor of the Associated Press and a member of the policy committee, who presided at last night's meeting,

In Speech Accepting Check He Says Experience Is a "Call to Service With Those Working for International Co-operation."

In the days of the two Hague conferences, Dr. Levermore asserted, "was equally acceptable to both of our great parties. Such Democrats as Judge Parker, William Jennings Bryan, George Gray and John Russell Moore supported it. Among Republicans it was powerfully promoted from the seats of the mighty."

Hurries Back to New York.
As Dr. Levermore hurried to the stage to congratulate him. He fought his way to a small dressing room. There half a dozen photographers snapped him. They asked for a "second shot" at him. Dr. Levermore protested and reached for his coat.

"I have got to get back to New York on the 11:15 and I have only six minutes to catch it," he protested.

"Are you a wealthy man or in modest circumstances?" a reporter asked as Dr. Levermore hurried to the street by way of the stage door.

"I have been a school teacher many years," flashed Dr. Levermore. "That ought to answer the question."

"How did you feel when you first learned the prize would come to you?"

"I was staggered; just staggered. That's about all," answered Dr. Levermore.

Dr. Levermore's plan was No. 1469 among 22,000 submitted. The $50,000 handed to him tonight was termed the "initial check." Under the stipulation by the donor, Edward W. Bok, Dr. Levermore will receive an additional $50,000 "if and when the plan passes the Senate, or, and when the jury of award decides that an adequate degree of popular support has been accorded it." The balancing now in progress throughout the country is supposed to reveal this.

With the check for $50,000 in his pocket, Dr. Levermore and his wife rode back to New York in a day coach. He said he had no craving for Palladium check. "I declined to be interviewed," he admitted. "I didn't know what he would do with the $50,000, although his circumstances were 'very moderate.'"

The check given to Dr. Levermore was signed by Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the American Peace Award. The name of the donor, Edward W. Bok, was not on it.

Winner Has Prepared Studies on World Peace

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Charles H. Levermore has published several studies on the subject of world peace. He has been an instructor in various colleges and universities, including the University of California, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Adelphi College, Brooklyn, of which he was president for 19 years.

He was born in Mansfield, Conn., in 1876, and graduated from Yale in 1899. From 1913 to 1916 he was connected with the World Peace Foundation in Boston. He returned to New York in 1916 to do secretarial work for the World Court League, and later for the New York Peace Society, and the League of Nations Union.

When the American Association for International Co-operation was formed he was named secretary, and with other officers of that body helped form the League of Nations Non-partisan Association, in 1923.

In addition to numerous other publications, Dr. Levermore is the author of a series of year books on the League of Nations, listing the achievements of the league during each 12 months. Three of these have been published and a fourth is being prepared.

REPORT UPHOLDING DR. FOSDICK ADOPTED

New York Fundamentalists, Beaten in Presbytery, Will Carry Fight to Assembly.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Fundamentalists in the New York Presbytery declined to give battle yesterday at the special meeting in the First Presbyterian church, abandoning the field on the ground of superior odds against them, and, without argument, the report of the committee was adopted, confirming the teaching of the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick as orthodox. The vote on the report was 111 to 28.

In the General Assembly, however, the New York fundamentalists hope to overwhelm Dr. Fosdick's supporters. When the vote on the report was announced the Rev. Dr. Walter D. Buchanan, pastor of the Broadway church and leader of the fundamentalists, announced he and his fellows would send a complaint against it to the assembly. Dr. Buchanan also lodged a protest with the Presbytery, signed by 21 ministers and elders.

The protest charges the New York Presbytery with "unwarranted and disloyal criticism" of the General Assembly. It charges Dr. Fosdick with having failed to make any clear statement of his beliefs regarding the five points of doctrine which the General Assembly insisted last May were essential, notably the virgin birth and the bodily resurrection of Jesus.

Except for a reply to the protest which, according to the regular procedure, will be made by the special committee on Dr. Fosdick, the matter is settled so far as the Presbytery is concerned, and Dr. Fosdick is confirmed in his ministry. The complaint, however, will bring it up all the more pointedly at the General Assembly in Grand Rapids, Mich., next May. The fundamentalists dominated the last General Assembly at Indianapolis and adopted the resolution instructing the New York Presbytery to require that the teaching of Dr. Fosdick conform to the Westminster confession of faith.

BURGLES SUSPECT KILLED IN REVOLVER FIGHT, ANOTHER SHOT

Third Man Caught Unhurt and Large Amount of Stolen Property Found in Cottage at Cleveland.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 3.—Charles Sanborn was shot and killed and Bryan Keenan was shot twice and captured in a gun fight yesterday near their rendezvous in a suburb where police located them for alleged participation in several holdups and burglaries. They had been hunted for several weeks as suspects in the recent murder of John Hau, a bakery wagon driver. More than 75 shots were fired. Ferdinand Mischtschew, another companion, also was captured.

Sanborn was shot a half dozen times. Mischtschew was found by the police hidden under a bed in a little cottage in which the man had lived for two months. The police went to the rendezvous on information received from Mrs. Florence Columbia, who rented the youths the cottage. She recognized Keenan's picture, printed in a newspaper after he escaped from Patrolman Hedrick, who was taking him to a police station.

Several thousand dollars worth of stolen goods and a number of rifles, revolvers and burglar's tools were found in the cottage. Sanborn and Mischtschew have served terms and were out on parole.

Slain in Pistol Fight With Police.

By the Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 3.—Robert E. Wood, a former postmaster here, was shot and killed late last night in a fight with police, who sought to search his automobile for contraband liquor. Wood, the police say, was crazed from the excessive use of "moonshine." He opened fire on them and Patrolman Ben Comer was shot in the chest. Reinforcements of police went to the scene and Wood again opened fire. It was returned and he was killed, eight bullets entering his body.

IT IS a Vandervoort policy always to sell every article at a price as low as that asked elsewhere for articles of equal quality or quantity.

Items of Interest

For Midwinter Vacations We Suggest These Few Items:

Sweaters

—And plenty of 'em! For the weather at this time of the year is as changeable as a woman's mind. But of course there are countless occasions for sweaters anyway when one is on one's vacation. There are sweaters for men in brushed wool and unbrushed wool in many different colors, and priced from

$8.25 to $22.50

As for women's sweaters the variety is limitless, and the prices range from $5.00 upward.

Don't Forget Your Golf Clubs

—for very trivial is a vacation if you don't play golf. And whatever you do, get McGreggor Clubs, because in the long run they'll give you the most satisfaction. They are priced from $5.00 to $15.00 each.

And your Golf Bag must be a Hotie—with leather trimmings, an aluminum top and bottom, this is about the most serviceable Bag on the market

$7.50 to $25.75

Sporting Goods Shop—First Floor.

Filled Suitcase

—to carry all of your toilet articles is naturally your first consideration. Here is a carrying case of long grain cowhide leather, hand-stitched with imitation leather, and of two-tones shell or amber and amber or ivory. These cases have removable toilet tray and can be carried separately as an overnight case. Priced from

$29.50 to $175.00

Last, But Not Least

—is the Mah Jong Set you must take along. This fascinating game is captivating society with increasing enthusiasm. On simply must have a set to be in the swing of things. The cabinets are beautifully decorated with handles of carved metal, very easily carried. Visit the Mah Jong Shop before you go.

The Economy BAKING POWDER

"My bakings used to be a matter of 'hit or miss'—sometimes they were successful; then again a total failure, no matter how hard I tried. But that was before a friend persuaded me to try Calumet. Now I know what the result will be—what to expect every time—perfectly raised, uniformly baked foods. Bake day is really a delight."

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans, instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Baking Powder plays an important part in the success or failure of your baking. The great American housewives all realize this. They have found by experience that a better leavener is not, and cannot be made—that for nutritious and wholesome foods it has no equal.

Calumet is made in the World's largest baking powder factories; human hands never touch it.

CITY JAIL DEFECTS SHOWN BY SURVEY

Worst Is That It Has Cells for 132 Men, but Must House Two or Three Hundred.

The city jail, "in construction, lighting, ventilation and sanitation is one of the best jails of its class in the United States" and "its cleanliness is equal to that of a high-class hospital." However, there are serious defects, of which the worst is that it has cells for only 132 men, whereas the number of men prisoners ranges from 200 to nearly 300, of whom an average of 100 are Federal prisoners awaiting trial.

These were the principal findings in a report read today at a luncheon of the Missouri Welfare League at the American Annex Hotel, to which the public and city officials were invited. The survey was made a month ago by Dr. Hastings H. Hart, director of the Child-Healthing Department of the Russell Sage Foundation at the behest of the league and of Director of Public Welfare Council, Dr. Hart is to return to complete investigation of the workhouse and city correctional institutions.

The crowded condition of the jail necessitates placing two prisoners in each of the "bunk" cells for one man, and, including corridors, there is little more than half the living space regarded as the necessary minimum. "It is manifestly impossible to live normally and obtain proper exercise in such a place as this," Dr. Hart remarks.

Suggestions for Relief.
For relief, he suggests that no Federal prisoners be admitted after this year, that women prisoners be kept elsewhere, and that judges be enabled to release upon their own recognizance prisoners unable to give bail, but having regular employment or homes of their own and showing a fair degree of responsibility.

If Federal prisoners may later be accepted, he suggests charging more than the 75 cents now charged, the Government daily for each to cover food and guard expenses. He estimates that the actual cost of keeping them is $1 or possibly $1.25 a day each, remarking:

"This meager payment is in accord with the long established policy of the general Government to sponge upon states and counties for prison rent and overhead charges. These services are exacted by the general Government as if they were a right, but there can be no semblance of justice in this proposition."

"I can discover no reason why the United States Government should ask the City of St. Louis to donate the use of 40 per cent of the facilities of its municipal jail and to keep it lighted, heated and repaired at its own expense when this accommodation necessitates doubling up its own prisoners in cells with the attendant suffering and exposure which I have already described."

Black Women's Quarters.
Women prisoners are kept on the fifth and sixth stories in quarters described as "bleak, unsanitary, barn-like." They are not separated from each other. Dr. Hart, comments, "It would be better to turn a young girl unvaccinated into the ward of a smallpox hospital than to expose her to this frightful companionship."

Dr. Hart recommends that, with the women placed in the House of Detention or some other building, dormitories, instead of cells, as planned, be constructed on the fifth floor and at one end of the sixth floor. The saving over cost of steel cell construction, he believes, probably will cover the cost of school and work rooms on the sixth floor, an exercise yard, and an auditorium, to replace the present improvised and inadequate chapel, on the roof.

Few Prisoners Under Sentence.
As indication that these concessions to humanity are not out of place he cites that only 12 of 243 prisoners on Jan. 3 were serving sentences, showing that the "primary function, and almost the exclusive function of the municipal jail is the care and treatment" of persons presumptively innocent.

Dr. Hart suggests that trained teachers be obtained for the school, that prisoners be encouraged to make and sell articles in the workroom and that library facilities be developed by arrangement with the public library. Moderate hospital accommodations would obviate the sending to the city hospital of prisoner patients.

Quarters for the jailer, now on the first floor also should be removed, Dr. Hart holds, so that the laundry and kitchen can be moved up from the basement, where ventilation is impossible without dust blowing in the windows from a shrubby plot outside.

Five Per Cent Wage Boost Urged.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Letters urging that the 5 per cent wage increase, which has been granted by the New York Central Railroad and its subsidiaries to engineers and firemen, be made the basis of settlement on other roads throughout the country, have been sent to local heads of committees by Warren S. Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and D. B. Robertson, chief of the Firemen's Union. Based on estimates of the New York Central, it has been computed that a wage adjustment on this basis would add $20,000,000 to the expenses of the carriers.

—Our Showing Is Varied and Groups Are Featured at

$29.75 $39.75 $59.75

¶ The jauntness of the Spring Suits cannot be attributed entirely to their straight, boyish lines, for much of their charm is due to the materials being especially appropriate for their type.

The Coats are in double-breasted and one-button straight or outaway styles, some being of the sports effect, while others maintain a strictly tailored appearance. Lengths vary from 30 inches to finger tips. Tailored models for the more conservative women are 40 inches in length. There are new colors, combinations, navy and black.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It to Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear.

Thousands who have dizzy spells, sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, pains in the head and impaired energy have been told by physicians or insurance examiners that they have high blood pressure. The serious results are well enough known to check it at once. High blood pressure caused by overtaxing the heart often brings on Bright's Disease, apoplexy and sudden death. Norma reduces high blood pressure to normal. Often one bottle will do it. Many have so testified. It is a doctor's prescription that's harmless and is also much used by women who usually have blood pressure above normal. Ask for Norma at Wolf, Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Enderle, and Johnson Bros. ACCUSED OF THROWING NEIGHBOR INTO WELL

Ora Thoele Arrested After Inquiry Into Case of Farmer, Now in Critical Condition.

Ora Thoele, neighbor of Peter W. Saal, who was rescued Thursday from a 16-foot well on his farm north of St. Charles, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging assault to kill, following an investigation of the case by Sheriff Grothe of St. Charles.

Thoele is held without bail in St. Charles jail while Saal is in critical condition at his home, unable to make a lucid statement of what occurred. Saal was found struggling in 10 feet of water by his wife, Dora, and his brother, Paul, attracted by his cries. He lapsed into unconsciousness and was taken to the house, where an hour later Thoele was found peering into the bedroom window. Friends with shotguns imprisoned Thoele in the kitchen until Sheriff Grothe arrived and caused his release, after brief questioning.

SHOPLIFTING REDUCED BY STORES' PROTECTIVE BODY

K. F. Niemoller Addresses Convention on Results Accomplished Here.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Stealing from St. Louis department stores has been reduced to a minimum and there are fewer fraudulent charge purchases since inauguration of the Stores' Mutual Protective Association two years ago, said K. F. Niemoller, secretary-manager of the Associated Retailer of St. Louis, in an address here today before the National Association of Retail Secretaries.

Describing work being done by the protective association, which is an adjunct of the Associated Retailers, he said: "Stealing from stores by many methods causes losses of thousands of dollars among the stores of St. Louis, the same as in other cities. Most of this loss was attributable to professional shoplifters, who infested the stores at all business hours of the day. It was because of the growing seriousness of the situation that the protective association was formed, with W. M. Jenkins, a detective, at its head. Since organization of this association, shoplifters have been driven almost entirely from St. Louis, and the resultant savings to the stores are tremendous."

"To show how the organization pays for itself during the two years it has been in existence, the monetary value of stolen goods that has been recovered more than pays the entire operating expenses of the organization. People on Mr. Jenkins' staff not only keep a lookout for shoplifters and for persons who have purchases fraudulently charged to other people's accounts, but they investigate sales methods used by people working in the stores and look after the stores' services generally."

Niemoller said that the gratifying results obtained through the protective association in St. Louis has caused other cities to establish such bureaus. He paid a tribute to the police and the courts of St. Louis, saying that without the splendid co-operation that has been received by them, the results attained would not have been possible.

$50,000 PAYMENT BY BANKER TO "EQUESTRIENNE" REVEALED

Settlement of J. L. Bushnell With Pauline C. Hays Was for Breach of Contract.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Papers filed in Supreme Court disclose that John L. Bushnell, former president of the First National Bank of Springfield, O., and son of former Governor Asa Bushnell of Ohio, had signed checks for $50,000 in settlement of a claim made by Pauline C. Hays of New York, who described herself as an "equestrienne" by profession, driving horses at public exhibition.

The papers were made public on an application by Miss Hays to compel her former attorney, Jerome C. Jacobs, to return a number of papers received from her, including a telegram, check and 14 letters from Bushnell. She also asked that an order be signed directing Jacobs to pay her $12,100 with interest and to endorse a check for $35,000 received from Bushnell as part of the settlement and made out to Jacobs. The case will be heard today.

Miss Hays asserted she engaged Jacobs in December, 1922, to adjust a claim against Bushnell for $50,000 "for breach of contract in connection with services previously rendered."

Bushnell resigned last July as president of the First National Bank and as director of the American Trust and Savings Bank of Springfield, O., after he had caused the arrest of Don Osborn, alias L. H. Putnam, and Rose Osborn, for an alleged attempt to extort $10,000 from him.

$51,811 Judgment on Contract. A decision in favor of the illness Fuel Co. awarding a judgment of $51,811 against the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Co. was handed down yesterday by Circuit Judge Graham. The fuel company had sued the railroad company for a contract whereby the latter agreed to purchase 50,000 tons of mine-run coal between July 1, 1920, and July 1, 1921. The controversy was over the amount of coal the railroad received after the contract price had been increased due to wage advances.

MABEL, BILLY AND JAMES TOO MUCH

Stepchildren Named in Mrs. P. A. McDonough's Suit to Divorce Insurance Man.

Three ungenerous children in a quiet family hotel like the Buckingham Annex were too much for their stepmother, Mrs. Nellie McDonough, she asserted today in a suit to divorce Patrick A. McDonough of 729 North Union boulevard, branch manager for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. She told her prospective husband, before they were married last July 27, that she would live with him, but not with Mabel, 15; Billy, 13, and James, 5 years old, the petition recites. He agreed Mrs. McDonough further declares, and said the children would stay with relatives. Shortly after they had taken up residence at the Buckingham Annex, McDonough brought James home to stay with his stepmother. Then Mabel came. The Billy, "James was ungovernable and Billy was incorrigible," Mrs. McDonough recites in her petition, "and Mabel was disrespectful." The plaintiff goes on to relate how McDonough would take his family for automobile rides, giving the children the best seats in the automobile and ignoring his wife. The McDonoughs later moved from the Buckingham to a six-room apartment, and there, Mrs. McDonough says she had to sleep with Mabel in one room while her husband and his sons occupied another. She detected this arrangement and went to Chicago. Mabel was placed in a convent. Husband and wife separated Jan. 21. Besides general indignities, Mrs. McDonough alleges her husband failed to support her properly and did not adequately furnish their apartment. She was obliged to spend $500 of her own money, she says, and although he had an income of $1000 a month, he was niggardly with funds.

JAIL FOR DRY LAW VIOLATION

Another fine and a jail sentence for violation of the Volstead law were imposed by Circuit Judge Warden at Clayton yesterday when he informed Leonard Nottebrock, operator of a saloon and dance hall on Vulcan avenue, in Luxemburg, that he must pay $100 and go to jail for six months. Deputy Sheriff's raid on Nottebrock's place April 10, last, and found 12 bottles of home brew beneath the porch of the building, which serves as residence and place of business. Nottebrock argued that he should not be penalized for possession, because of failure to find any liquor in his saloon, but the Judge waved this objection aside.

Wants McAdoo to Speak in Missouri.

The suggestion that William G. McAdoo make three speeches in Missouri after testifying before the Senate committee investigating oil leases was made yesterday by Charles C. Oliver, State manager of the McAdoo campaign, to directors of the national McAdoo campaign. Their attitude toward the suggestion has not been learned. Oliver wants McAdoo to speak at St. Louis, Kansas City and Springfield.

Window Smasher Steals 14 Watches
 A shabbily dressed young man tossed a half brick wrapped in newspaper through the window of the Barnett Jewelry Co., 1002 Olive street, at 6:30 a. m. today and escaped with 14 watches, which he snatched from among the articles on display. The breaking of the window set off a burglar alarm, summoning police from Central District. A. J. Barnett, vice president of the firm, estimated the value of the watches at $210.

Man, 65, Kills Wife, 28, and Self.
 STROUBSBURG, Pa., Feb. 5.—Eli Everett, 65 years old, today shot and killed his wife, Hattie, and then committed suicide. The tragedy followed a violent quarrel. The married life of the pair was unhappy, police learned, because the wife, who was vivacious, liked the gaities of life. She was Everett's third wife.

NEW YORK BANKER TO WED HAT MODEL

O. C. Harriman Engaged Before Wife's Final Divorce Is Granted.

By Licensed Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Although the final decree of his wife's divorce has not been granted, Oliver Carley Harriman, banker, sportsman and member of one of the most socially prominent families in this city, admitted yesterday he is engaged to marry a young hat model of a Fifth avenue modiste.

The girl is Harriet N. Hewitt, he said. They were introduced several months ago by a friend and Harriman has been her constant companion since. No date for the marriage has been set nor will there be any formal announcement of the engagement until after Mrs. Harriman's final divorce.

"If I said anything about it now," Harriman said last night, "it would be unfair to my first wife."

Harriman is tall, heavily built, with sandy hair and an easy smile. He seemed in high spirits. Proud to Know Hat Model.
"I am much upset by the story published in an afternoon newspaper," he said. "Miss Hewitt's name was never mentioned and she never was a cash girl. She is a very fine type of girl. I am proud to know her. She is beautiful and has attracted a great deal of favorable attention in her work as hat model. I am going with her now. We are very friendly."

Only last week the first intimation of a separation between Mr. and Mrs. Harriman became public. It was learned that Supreme Court Justice Taylor in Mount Vernon had granted an interlocutory decree to Mrs. Harriman, the trial having been conducted in December. The divorce had been kept secret by the family.

Mrs. Harriman charged her husband had been living during July and August last with an unnamed, lovely, dark-haired woman at his home in East Sixty-first street, and the woman was known as "Mrs. O. C. Harriman." A butler and a street railway employee testified they had heard the woman call herself "Mrs. Harriman." Harriman did not enter a defense.

Marriage Social Event of 1915.
Miss Lois E. Bisbee, whose family was also active in social life, was married to Harriman in 1915. Their marriage was one of the most important social events of the year. They have two small children, custody of whom has been granted to Mrs. Harriman. They have been separated for several months, Mrs. Harriman living with her father, Eldon Bisbee, in Bedford Mills, and Harriman staying in town.

Harriman is one of the youngest members of the New York Stock Exchange and is vice president of the Credit Alliance Corporation.

Miss Hewitt is said to live with a girl friend in East Sixty-second street. Her father, Harriman described as a "splendid business man," but he declined to say where he lived.

CHARGE OF STABBING A DOG

Charge of Cruelty to Animals Against Former Policeman.
Charges of cruelty to animals were placed against Herbert Miller, 24, of 4049 Olive street, yesterday on information of the Humane Society that he stabbed a dog to death Sunday. He will be tried in Police Court.

Miller was arrested as he left the Municipal Courts Building following dismissal of peace charges for want of prosecution. Police were told that Sunday he created a disturbance in the home of Mrs. Ida Durning, 1305 Chestnut street, and, when a Boston terrier in the house became excited, kicked it and then stabbed it in the throat with a pocket knife. Miller served on the police force for a year, until he was dismissed in 1922.

DEATH CAUSED BY BURNS

Funeral of James McGregor Will Be Held Tomorrow.

A Coroner's inquiry into the death of James McGregor, 75 years old, of 3909 Magnolia avenue, Sunday at Lutheran Hospital, disclosed yesterday that it resulted from burns on head and face suffered Jan. 23 in a fire at his home. His wife, Mary, 65, was burned about the face. Funeral services for McGregor, who was head of a grain elevator and afterward a scale expert for the Merchants' Exchange, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow from an undertaker's chapel at 1817 Sidney street.

NOMINATIONS FOR VACANT JUDGESHIP

Bar Association to Select Three Names to Be Recommended to Governor.

Twenty-one St. Louis Republican lawyers have been nominated to the Bar Association referendum to select three names from which Gov. Hyde has promised to appoint a successor to Circuit Judge Charles B. Davis who formally retired yesterday to accept the President's appointment to the Federal bench here.

The period for filing names for the general referendum ballot closed yesterday. Those nominated are: Robert L. Alworth, Campbell A. Bohenkamp, Frank S. Hemenz, Walter Diehm, Arthur J. Freund, Assistant Circuit Attorney James E. Garstang, City Counselor George F. Hald, Fred J. Hoffmeyer, Robert J. Kratky, William R. Orthwein, Claude O. Peary, former State Senator Alvin B. Phillips, Blodgett Priest, Edward E. Rudolph, Maximilian F. Ruler, former Circuit Judge Charles W. Rutledge, Harry R. Charles, N. P. Zimmer and Frank H. Yarn.

All votes must be cast before 4 p. m. Feb. 7. A committee composed of George C. Hitchcock, Henry F. Caulfield, Dwight D. Currie, J. L. Hornsby and Charles A. Powers, is in charge. The closing of filing for the general ballot does not preclude further nominations, but any now received will go on a supplemental ballot.

A protest against the Bar Association referendum was mailed to Gov. Hyde yesterday by Carl M. Dabinsky, an attorney. He said a large number of lawyers here, not members of the Bar Association, are disfranchised in this instance, because only members are to participate in the referendum.

Plans for induction of Judge Davis into the Federal judiciary await arrival of his commission from Washington. It is expected today or tomorrow. Judge Davis will administer the oath to Judge Davis who has requested that the occasion be without ceremony.

GIRL'S GRANDFATHER, 80 YEARS OLD, ACCUSED OF KILLING HER

Thompson Dickson, Child's Parent, Says "My Old Daddy Did Job" to Get Her Money.

By the Associated Press.
BRIDGEPORT, N. J., Feb. 5.—Thompson Dickson, charged with the slaying of his daughter, Emma, in a written statement made in the county jail here last night, accused his 80-year-old father, Benjamin Dickson, of having killed the girl. It was on the statement of Benjamin Dickson that his son had beaten the girl to death that the younger man was arrested.

"My old daddy did the job," said Thompson's statement. "He wanted to get the money left to Emma and was going to get my little girl out of the road. After my daddy killed Emma there was nothing else for me to do but help him get rid of her body. Go get a sheet and put it over your head and then ask my father who killed Emma Dickson. Don't say a word, but go home and examine the wheelbarrow and you will find blood on it all right."

The police are working on the theory that the girl was killed to obtain $1200 left to her by a relative whom she had befriended.

Searches Son After 21 Years.
Policewomen are searching for Lann Harris, who 21 years ago adopted a baby boy, then a year old. The search for Harris is in an effort to locate the boy. The mother of the boy, Mrs. Sadie Scully of Tulsa, Ok., appealed to the police to aid her in the hunt. The boy, when he was taken by Harris, was known, she writes, as "Frank White" and "had blue eyes." Harris, she writes, formerly lived in St. Louis and may live here now.

RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTRY COMPLAINS OF REACTION IN BRITISH PRESS

Why Not Clear Away at Once and Reservations, and Go Business? Tchitcherin

Recognition of the Soviet Government by Great Britain is one of the most important developments in the world today. Premier MacDonald accompanied his announcement with the statement that the British Government was not prepared to make any statement concerning the settlement of the Russian Revolution in Asia.

British reaction to this recognition is the subject of a statement by Georges Tchitcherin, Russian Foreign Minister, in the Moscow Post-Dispatch. It was obtained by Arthur Ransome of the Manchester Guardian and the Post-Dispatch in Moscow.

By Georges Tchitcherin.
Special Cable to the Manchester Guardian and the Post-Dispatch and the Moscow Post-Dispatch.

MOSCOW, Feb. 4.—Our Soviet Congress characterized the recognition of the Soviet Republics by Great Britain as a historic event. This is quite true and it is impossible to exaggerate the role this event will play in the development of the world situation.

Two factors have brought about this recognition by Great Britain. First, the recognition of the Soviet Republics, which in the form of unemployment, has been the cause of the present economic crisis, and the whole strength of its just instincts, striving for the only real remedy—drawing the Soviet Union into completely normal intercourse with Great Britain.

The second factor is the far-seeing, enlightened comprehension of the most thoughtful elements in English political circles. Comprehension has long been the art of British statesmanship. But a wise thing must be thoroughly wise and must not be left unfinished and half-hearted things cannot be done half-heartedly.

A Feeling of Vagueness.
Why then in the British note announcing such a grand decision is there a sort of intermission of that original decision? Instead of leaving a feeling of full and complete satisfaction and joy, the British note leaves, in the mind of some, a doubt and a feeling of vagueness. What mean these subtle distinctions between recognition and normal conditions? After reading the first paragraph of the note I thought it gave us full recognition, but in a second paragraph found that normal conditions will be restored only after vexed questions about debts, private property and so on have been solved.

We have recognition, but abnormal conditions. What does recognition imply if not normal relations between the states in question? Why cannot we at once nominate an Ambassador? Obviously because there are no normal conditions between us.

RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER COMPLAINS OF RESTRAINTS IN BRITISH RECOGNITION

Why Not Clear Away at Once All Vagueness and Reservations, and Get Down to Business? Tchitcherine Asks.

Recognition of the soviet Government by the British Labor Government is one of the most important developments of recent world statesmanship. Premier Macdonald accompanied de jure recognition with reservations concerning the settlement of outstanding questions between Great Britain and Russia, particularly those arising from Russian propaganda in Asia.

The reaction to this recognition is highly important. The Post-Dispatch is able to furnish an interpretation of the soviet view-point in a statement by Georges Tchitcherine, the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs. It was obtained by Arthur Ransome, staff correspondent of the Manchester Guardian and the Post-Dispatch and New York World in Moscow.

FRENCH DEPUTIES END BUDGET DEBATE

Attack on Government's Emergency Measures Halted by Vote of 335 to 118.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Feb. 5.—At the insistence of Premier Poincare the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon voted, 335 to 118, to close the debate on the budget. The government's emergency measures had been continued prior to the taking of this vote. Today's debate in opposition was led by Deputy Herriot, the radical socialist leader, who declared he was astonished that a man of Poincare's legal turn of mind could propose a law so directly contrary to the Constitution.

Poincare reaffirmed the Government's determination to insist upon such power which he declared did not conflict with the constitution and was opposed chiefly by the communists and communists. It was the only practical method of insuring immediate economies in the Government, he insisted.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The Government has sent a new note to France demanding the heavy responsibility of the French Government in the present of its failure to meet immediately its international and political obligations. The note commends that French civil and military support of the Separatists.

The German Government, therefore, again requests the French Government to re-establish conditions in the Palatinate, in accordance with the treaty terms and to

PLAN DEMOCRATIC STAMPEDE TO PUT AL. SMITH OVER

New Yorkers Preparing to Stage Greatest Demonstration in Convention Annals for Governor.

ELECTRIC SIGNS TO BLAZON HIS NAME

With Aid of Neighboring States, Supporters Hope to Start Toward Nomination With Big Vote.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The New York friends of "Al" Smith—and they are many and active—are preparing to stage for him, at the forthcoming Democratic national convention in New York, such a demonstration as never has been seen at a political gathering.

Those who attended the San Francisco convention of the party will recall the spontaneous tribute to the popular New York Governor. Delegates from virtually every State, men and women, joined in a rollicking parade, singing "The Sidewalks of New York." It was a happy-go-lucky affair, wholly unlike the carefully staged demonstrations that have come to be a part of every national convention.

Alfred E. Smith had no chance to be nominated then, so everybody felt free to pay him a compliment. From the spectacular point of view, that man who, at the convention hall, with the great pipe organ rolling out an accompaniment, was the finest thing that the Democrats staged.

The "Al" Smith Show of 1920 in New York City was a feeble effort compared with the demonstration that the New Yorkers will put on in the Governor's home town. They have plenty of funds and will pour them out unstintingly in a gigantic effort to convince the delegates, from the provinces that "Al" Smith is the man of the hour.

To Blazon Virtues in Sky. As far out as 100 miles from the city, on all the main railroad lines, incoming delegates will see great electric signs blazoning forth the name and virtues of "Al" Smith. In New York City, they will see his name flaming in the sky by night and written in letters of smoke from airplanes by day. They will see a New York plastered with "Al" Smith placards and bedecked with his numerous citations, with millions of "Al" Smith buttons and ribbons.

For the greater glory of the Governor, as well as for the sake of its own reputation, the host city, New York expects to furnish entertainment more lavish and varied than ever has been provided by any convention city. New York will be thrown wide open to the delegates. Among other souvenirs, each will receive a convention badge which, if promises hold good, will put to shame every previous glittering bauble of similar character.

Tammany Will Be on Job. But it is at the convention hall itself that the great effort for Smith will be put forth. This time the demonstration will not be a casual compliment to Smith, but an organized, scientifically managed drive to put Smith over as the presidential nominee. Tammany doorkeepers and Tammany policemen will be on the job, and Tammany shouters will fill the galleries. At the psychological moment, this convention destined from the beginning to work itself into a deadlock, there will be a supreme effort to go play on the emotions of the delegates that they will vote for Smith in a wild stampede.

And it may be done. It is not conceivable at all that it will be done. The leaders of the Smith movement, at any rate, are going about their work of preparation with supreme confidence.

They put it this way: The New York Democracy has not for years had a favorite son candidate. This year it has a candidate of immense popularity in the State and nation, a man of the people, a man who has made a great reputation for himself, a man for whom it can wholeheartedly yell its head off. Heretofore the 90 votes of New York have played an obstructive part, till the time comes when they will throw their votes to their own man in the genuine belief that he has a chance to win.

From New Yorker's Standpoint. Tell one of these New Yorkers that the delegates to a national convention can't be stamped by notes in the galleries or any other device, that they are a hard-boiled, emotion-proof lot, and he will reply in this wise: That the core and center of this hard-boiled bloc in the past has been the delegation from New York, the very delegation which this year will be on an

Voters of Missouri to Pass on 21 Proposed Amendments to State Constitution on Feb. 26

FIRST OF SERIES OF ARTICLES EXPLAINING THE CHANGES

Amendment No. 1

THE FACTS ABOUT an alleged offense, NOT THE FORM of an indictment or information, will become the vital phase of those documents with which persons charged with crime are brought to trial in Missouri, if Amendment No. 1, directed at Article II of the State Constitution, is adopted.

Three changes in the Bill of Rights are grouped under this amendment. The two others are designed to broaden the power of religious corporations to hold real estate and to alter the constitutional provision as to libel, so as to place libel suits in the same relation to judge and jury as other litigation.

Religious corporations at present can hold real estate in Missouri only for church edifices, parsonages and cemeteries, under Section 8 of the Constitution. This provision in varying form has been in the Missouri Constitution since 1820. It was inspired in the beginning by a desire to render impossible, conditions such as prevailed in England at the time of William the Conqueror, when that monarch and his retainers held about half of the land and the church had most of the remainder. Much of the acreage was allowed to lie idle, thus obstructing economic development.

Missouri churches endeavored to obtain elimination of the section altogether. But finally the extremes of opinion reached a common ground by recommending that stringency of the present measure be relaxed to an extent which would permit the formation of religious corporations to conduct missionary, charitable or educational activities of a religious denomination, and to own property for those purposes. They will be prohibited from holding any real estate for longer than six years, unless it be used solely for church edifices, parsonages, cemeteries, schools, hospitals, orphanages or similar "non-gainful religious, charitable or educational purposes."

The change would permit incorporation in this State of denominational, missionary, publishing or educational activities, which previously had to be conducted in other States.

Missouri churches endeavored to obtain elimination of the section altogether. But finally the extremes of opinion reached a common ground by recommending that stringency of the present measure be relaxed to an extent which would permit the formation of religious corporations to conduct missionary, charitable or educational activities of a religious denomination, and to own property for those purposes. They will be prohibited from holding any real estate for longer than six years, unless it be used solely for church edifices, parsonages, cemeteries, schools, hospitals, orphanages or similar "non-gainful religious, charitable or educational purposes."

The apparent aim of the convention was to preserve all of the framework of the existing code which adapts itself to modern needs and to modernize the remainder. Effort was expended to make the various arms of the government responsive to the rapidly changing conditions of life and affairs of this period.

Thus it was deemed necessary to lodge great tasks in the hands of the legislature as to the makeup of the lower courts and as to the detailed organization of the executive branch. Measures were taken, also, designed to render more flexible management of the local affairs of cities and functioning of the circuit and appellate courts.

Would End Equalization Board. One example of attempted modernization is in the proposed abolition of the State Board of Equalization, an ex-officio body created in 1845 to supervise all matters of assessment in the State. The convention, regarding tax matters of the present as too complex and their efficient management too vital to be handled as a "spare time job," has tried to put an end to

CANADA TO AID U. S. IN DRY ENFORCEMENT

Plan to Prevent Liquor Smuggling Across Border Expected to Be Ratified.

By the Associated Press. OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—Plans developed by the recent United States and Canada conference for the prevention of the smuggling of liquor across the international line have been sent to the Cabinet Council for ratification. It is understood that the plans will be ratified and announced simultaneously here and at Washington.

It is believed that the agreement provides for co-operation between Canadian and American customs agents to the extent that those of the United States side of the border will be furnished with information on the clearance of liquor shipments believed to be destined for the United States.

Exchange of witnesses and records and a new ideal for the handling of stolen property are said to be features of the plan. As reward for co-operation in the prevention of smuggling, Canada, it was said, may be granted the right to transport liquor across Alaska to the Yukon territory.

LENIN'S SUCCESSOR TOLD TO TAKE STRICT REST FOR WEEK

Rykov Overexerted Himself at First Sitting of Council Under His Presidency.

By the Associated Press. MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—Alexis Ivanovich Rykov, the new head of the Council of Commissars, has been ordered by his physicians to take strict rest of a week before he takes up his duties.

WALSH SIFTING STORIES OF BIG OIL STOCK DEALS

One of $15,000,000 Netted by Sinclair Concern; One of Transfer of $1,000,000 to Capital.

BROKERS' RECORDS ARE BEING EXAMINED

Administration Officials Said to Be Encouraging Fall in His Stand but He May Kick Over Traces.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Injunction proceedings to prevent further extraction of oil from the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill Reserves will be instituted by the Government's special counsel in the oil and land cases as soon as President Coolidge signs the Walsh resolution recently adopted by Congress.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. 20-23 Wyatt Building. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Carl P. Biggsman, assistant cashier of the Chase National Bank of New York City, has been subpoenaed to appear Thursday morning before the Senate Public Lands Committee, when the hearings on the oil lease scandal, temporarily in abeyance because of the death of Woodrow Wilson, will be resumed.

He has been directed to bring with him all papers on file in the bank relating to Harry F. Sinclair and Teapot Dome. The committee has asked specifically for information on any transfers of money from the New York institution to Washington banks at the direction of Sinclair or his personal attorney, J. W. Zevely, between Sept. 1, 1921, and June 11, 1922.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, is determined to go thoroughly into the stock transactions which rumor persistently has credited with netting $15,000,000 and upward for the Mammoth & Co. The Sinclair concern formed to operate the Teapot Dome naval reserve oil concession.

Rumor lately has been linking the names of administration officials, Senators and others with the reputed profits, the story being that the trading was conducted through Washington brokerage firms, particularly one branch office headed by a former associate of Senator Walsh, who is now in the House secret service attaché. In this connection several Senators are reported to have dealt heavily in the Sinclair stocks.

Senator Walsh is keeping his moves to himself, but he has a batch of subpoenas ready for issuance, and the understanding is that they will bring before the investigating committee, headed by Senator Lenroot (Rep.), a list of names, nominally as chairman, but actually run by Senator Walsh, administration leaders whose names are often mentioned in the rumors.

Story of a Million Dollars. One story is that $1,000,000 was transferred to the Mammoth & Co. funds emanating from the oil barons who obtained the naval reserve leases from former Secretary of the Interior Fall. If this story should prove to be true, especially its version of who received the money, it will eclipse all the prior sensations in the oil drama.

Senator Walsh summoned two New York City lawyers, Samuel Ungerleider & Co. of Cleveland for the purpose of having an examination made of their books by Federal Trade Commission agents, who aim being to disclose transactions in Sinclair stocks by administration principals.

As a result of a misunderstanding as to the hour of the meeting of the Senate Oil Committee, Samuel Ungerleider, head of the Cleveland firm, was not present today to respond to his name when it was called. Further investigation of the naval oil leases was deferred until Thursday. Ungerleider, accompanied by the former manager of his Washington branch, James S. Jones, appeared at the hearing room here and held a conference with Chairman Lenroot. They brought with them books of the Washington branch which the committee desires to have examined to determine whether they contain any record of transactions by Federal Government officials in the stock of the Mammoth Oil Co.

Fall is due to appear on Friday. He planned meanwhile to leave town in quest of quiet and seclusion in a nearby suburb, but this has been abandoned.

Well authenticated accounts are that Fall, resentful over being made the "scape goat" and over the "virtuous tone" of some of his former colleagues in the Cabinet, was persuaded with difficulty to Amendments 11 and 13.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE industrial propaganda of the organization behind the proposed constitutional amendments deserves the serious consideration of every citizen of St. Louis. I beg of you to permit me to point out two of the more remarkable of these amendments as interpreted by the "Association for Constitutional Amendments."

"Q. What does Amendment 11 propose? A. Amendment No. 11 means that every city in the State which has three thousand inhabitants or more can have its own charter and can run its own local affairs without interference by the Legislature."

"None, perhaps, but a lawyer can appreciate the significance of such an amendment. It seems to put every considerable town outside of the State and emancipate it from legislative control. When it is remembered that all cities are instrumentalities of the State, and that the State cannot without derogation from its sovereignty surrender its control over them, the very startling innovation proposed by this amendment is evident."

"Amendment 13 is no less significant. It proposed, to quote from the same association, 'that the fundamental law of the State shall be so amended as that the farmers can have much of their property which they actually use on the farms put in a class by itself and taxed on a lower basis.'"

St. Louis has too long been the victim of the State. Our valuations approximate actual value; the farmers, as you know, do not reach one-third of actual value. Why we should be importuned to vote for these amendments, I cannot understand. I submit them without comment to your readers. There are others no less significant, for example those providing for the enlargement of the taxing power of cities, and for pensions of various sorts to various classes of people, etc.

"Six Transit Gloria Mundi."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A SPIRIT finely touched lies dissolved in death. In the nation's capital, Woodrow Wilson, patriot, gentleman, mental aristocrat and humanitarian, has "passed on."

When the world's stage was the scene of the greatest tragedy in the tide of times, he assumed the leading role. His achievements there won for him the world's admiration and fame everlasting.

He fell in his country's cause and he died no less a hero than they who sleep in Flanders fields.

It is consoling to reflect that nature, in times of stress, selects from the human race a creature endowed with qualities excellent and ample to the occasion. In this instance the election fell to our fallen friend.

So in the light of history's unfolding perspective he shall stand out as the predominant figure of those tragic times—incomparable and immortal.

The Cleaners' Price War.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Editor who, with the best of intentions, wrote the editorial under the headline "A Righteous War" does not seem to know the inside of the price war story. He might just as well call the late war which the Kaiser and his clique started, a righteous war. As a matter of fact the same motive that brought about many wars in the past is responsible for the present cleaners' price war—i. e., the lust of money or power.

It may be interesting to learn that a certain wealthy cleaner, who wants to give the public the benefit of new methods and cut prices has been dictating prices to his fellow cleaners for a number of years. These fellow cleaners refused to be dictated to any longer and after his cutting the prices, went him one better.

The main reason for Mr. Well-to-Do cleaner cutting the rates on men's wear is that some smaller plants, not equipped and organized to give standard quality of work and service, were charging lower prices than the rich concern with its chain of stores. The only reason for this price cut was to freeze out these small shops and come back with a better price after the freezing-out process.

Mr. Millionaire dry cleaner knows just as well as I do that to clean a man's suit for one dollar ($1.00) means to do this work at a loss and that even the $1.25 price does not yield a fair profit. If first-class work and service are given.

While it is very commendable of Mr. Rich-Cleaner to give the public the benefit of this price cut, he evidently doesn't worry about how the little man will make a living for his family and realize to care little about his ability to pay his employees a fair wage.

CLEANER.

THE EDUCATIONAL AMENDMENT.

Under the present Constitution, section 1, the State Legislature is given power to establish and maintain free public schools "for the gratuitous instruction of all persons in this State between the ages of 6 and 21 years." No hint of compulsion is to be found in this wording.

The amendment of the same section, however, giving the Legislature the same power to establish such free schools, uses the phrasing: "in which free instruction SHALL BE GIVEN to all persons in this State between the ages of 6 and 20 years," and further states that the Legislature "may provide for BUT NOT COMPEL the instruction of persons of other ages by the State or by local school units."

The capitalized words in the parts of the amendment just quoted appear to carry, at least by inference, the idea of compulsion. If "all persons" of certain ages "SHALL BE GIVEN" instruction in the public schools, it might be ruled by the courts that all such persons must attend, in order to be given such instruction.

And if compulsion was not in the minds of the framers of this section of the amendment, why was the latter part of the section made to read: "and may provide for BUT NOT COMPEL the instruction" of persons of other ages?

Might not a court, attempting to get at the intention of the framers of the amendment, conclude that, by using the phrase "but not compel," with regard to persons over 20 years of age, compulsion was intended for all persons under 20? Such method of finding a meaning by inference is not uncommon in judicial decisions.

It will not do to leave this question unsettled. The framers of the amendment should make the meaning of this section perfectly clear. We do not want to take the chances of another Oregon school law, nor to do anything that will deprive parents of the right to select the kind of school to which they wish their children to go.

A TIME FOR COMPROMISE.

One serious defect in the character of Woodrow Wilson from the viewpoint of practical politics, was his inability to compromise. It was the general judgment, when the covenant of the League was finally rejected by the Senate, that, if the President had accepted the Lodge reservations, the United States would have entered the League.

That judgment, recalled now in several commentaries, might well be considered by the present administration with respect to the revenue act. There is no disposition on the administration's part, so far as Mr. Mellon is concerned, to accept any amendment from any quarter. Mr. Mellon has defended his plan tenaciously. That was the proper course up to a certain point, but the time has come to make concessions, especially in view of the fact that the Mellon plan in its original form cannot seem to be passed.

The country demands tax reduction. It is entitled to it. It will be bitterly disappointed if it does not get it. Just where public opinion will place the major blame if this relief is denied may be a question. In such failure, however, there will be odium enough to go all the way around. The administration should not ignore that fact.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION PLAYS POLITICS.

The State Highway Commission, in its annual report, discusses the unhappy condition of its finances. It dwells upon the narrow and insecure margin of its maintenance fund, which is seriously handicapping the management and general administration of the enterprise. The situation is unsatisfactory. Precarious were the better word, but the commission studiously refrains from using it. There was but one sensible, practicable way to remedy the situation and that was by calling the Legislature in extra session and dealing with the problem squarely and adequately. But on this point the commission is meticulously politic. Mindful of the Governor's refusal, through fear, to issue that call the report observes that "it (the commission) has made suggestions concerning new legislation to remedy this deficiency, but as you have yourself stated to the press, it has asked for a special session of the Legislature." Such sentiment, the report explains, "comes from those persons using the roads and who are seeking early relief from present intolerable road conditions." Literally that statement is the fact. The truth is, however, that the sentiment for an extra session was really the work of the State Highway Commission. The commission inspired the Automobile Club of Missouri to ascertain and mobilize public sentiment for an extra session. The commission not only enlisted that agency, but it provided the facts out of which the demand for an extra session emerged.

WALSH AND LA FOLLETTE.

Gov. Hyde shirked his plain duty when he declined to call an extra session. No sophistry or pettyfogging can gloss over that evasion. In attempting that task the State Highway Commission is playing politics in a bungling, awkward way.

WALSH AND LA FOLLETTE.

The oil investigation has brought out its heroes as well as its rogues. Senator La Follette found the trail which led to the disclosures now shaking the administration. It was his resolution which started the investigation. It remained for Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana to continue a labor of thief-hunting, without which the important disclosures of corruption in the Government never would have been made.

Cast for the role of minority tail of the investigation, Senator Walsh became the head and front and the only live force in it. The committee has had two chairmen, from whom, says Walsh, or from any Republican member, he received no assistance. Chairman Lenroot denied this charge on the floor of the Senate, but was unable to refute it. He could only claim that he did not block the investigation. What an evidence of leadership! Lenroot had further to confess that he had suggested no witnesses.

Months of investigation commanded little public interest and yielded nothing but suspicions. Then came the witnesses from New Mexico testifying to Fall's sudden acquisition of wealth. Even this disclosure would have been quieted by Fall's statement regarding his alleged loan from McLean, had not Walsh, on his own initiative, swooped down on the Palm Beach retreat of Fall and McLean and caught Fall in a lie which he had to admit. It was this development which drew out the Roosevelt and Doheny disclosures.

That Senator Walsh was not moved by mere partisan zeal is evidenced by the tribute of a Republican, Senator Norbeck of South Dakota, who praised the "earnestness and very great ability" of Walsh and declared that "the committee would have gotten nowhere had it not been for the diligence and determination to get at the truth that Senator Walsh displayed."

"I think he has performed a very great public service."

The American people, we are sure, will concur in that verdict. Also, they will rejoice that a new and powerful champion has taken up the cause of protecting the public domain from exploitation and from its sibil-fingered representatives in the Government.

CLEOPATRA.

WHEN the mighty Alexander built the city on the Nile, And a dynasty was founded That endured a long, long while, A strong line of rulers flourished While the fateful years flew past, Ending in a blaze of splendor— Cleopatra was the last.

Now her smile was most engaging— Julius Caesar fell for it, And she might have ruled the Romans Had not Brutus done his bit. Then the gay moth Marcia Antony Came buzzing round the flame, Scorched his wings and paid his homage To the fair Egyptian dame.

All went well with love triumphant Till the Roman Gloomy Gus Thought he had a little grievance And as promptly raised a fuss: So at Actium they met him And the mighty battle rolled Till the feet of Cleopatra Suddenly grew cold.

With her sixty ships she hastened To depart, and Marc went, too, With the Roman Gus pursuing Much as victors often do. Then a joker told poor Antony A lot of vicious fibs And he fell in such position That his sword passed through his ribs.

Cleopatra called a soldier— One she trusted more or less, And she said she'd like a serpent— One not famed for gentleness. So the soldier caught a cobra— Thought it was for Gloomy Gus. "This," he said, "is how to hold it. And you may release it—thub."

When the calm and stern Augustus Said he didn't like her nose And she'd have to walk the cobblestones At Rome, the story goes, Straightway then she pulled the serpent, Held it to her arm and said, "Well, I won't, so there, you frog-face!" And in forty winks was dead.

A scientist at Johns Hopkins was interested in the effects of tobacco and alcohol on longevity. He examined 26 persons of about 100 years. One-half of them had used either or both, and the other 13 had never used either. So the investigation proved nothing, though we may guess that life had seemed longer to the second half.

Health in the true skin means a radiant complexion

YOUR skin has two layers, the surface which we see and the true skin underneath. Blood-vessels and nerves end in the true skin, and it is here that millions of tiny glands carry on their work of eliminating wastes from the body.

Nearly all skin troubles take root in the complicated structure of the true skin. They show on the surface as blackheads, pimples, eczema and other disorders. To remove them, it is necessary to eliminate poisons, germs and infections in the true skin.

This, the new scientific Mercirex treatment does in a remarkable way.

The Mercirex Treatment

- 1—Cleanse the affected area with Mercirex Medicated Soap, the most efficacious germicidal soap developed. It cleanses and disinfects the outer skin, preparing for the penetration of Mercirex Cream.
- 2—Apply Mercirex Cream thinly. Massage gently but thoroughly until the Cream penetrates, leaving no trace of grease or stain. It goes quickly to the true skin, killing germ life and neutralizing poisons, thus enabling the true skin to function normally.

Skin blemishes disappear! With the true skin restored to health, the complexion promptly becomes clear and beautiful.

Your druggist is offering a full-size Mercirex treatment, consisting of two cakes of Soap and a jar of Cream—regular $1.55 value—at the introductory price of $1.25. If he cannot supply you, mail the coupon with $1.25, and we will send you the introductory package, together with a booklet on the care of the skin and scalp.

Begin using Mercirex to-day, and learn how attractive you really can be!

E. J. MONTI SUE ON $14,040 NOTE

Former Attorney Here Made Defendant in Action Brought by Woman.

Edward J. Monti, former attorney here, who was a Republican candidate for Circuit Judge in 1922, is defendant in a suit on a note for $14,040, filed yesterday by Miss Mary Tiefenbrunn. Monti is said to be in Los Angeles.

Miss Tiefenbrunn's brother, William F. Tiefenbrunn of 3948 Cleveland avenue, who said he was her agent in the matter, would not discuss details of the transaction.

The suit alleges that Monti executed a note in favor of Miss Tiefenbrunn Feb. 5, 1923, for $14,430, which was due Feb. 1, but that he had paid only $359. It alleges he has conveyed his property to hinder creditors. Olympia J. and Charlotte Monti are named as codefendants.

Monti is also defendant in a suit filed several weeks ago by Mrs. Sophia Solari to recover on an $8000 note.

take the course he pursued last Saturday, when he declined to submit to the committee's questions, confining himself to reading a prepared statement challenging the committee's authority on the technicality that its powers have expired under the terms of the Senate resolution creating it and invoking the personal privilege of silence on the ground that his answers might tend to incriminate him in view of the projected criminal prosecutions.

It is known that administration efforts are now being exerted to have Fall adhere to this course of silence, and that he may change his mind in order, for one thing, to revenge himself upon one Cabinet member for whom he has never had any friendship and whom he accuses of being the spokesman in the Cabinet for Standard Oil interests.

The Senate is expected to meet Fall's objections as to expiration of the committee's authority by passing on Thursday a resolution leaving no doubt of its full powers. Thereafter the Robinson resolution, calling upon President Coolidge to demand Secretary of the Navy Denby's resignation, will be debated. Republican efforts to forestall this side will be directed to fail, but the Republicans may be able to substitute a resolution merely urging the ousting of any officials guilty of malfeasance and not mentioning any names.

Representative La Guardia (Rep.), New York, introduced in the House yesterday a measure that would require the special counsel named by President Coolidge for the purpose of conducting the Government's prosecutions of the oil cases to submit a list of their past and present retainers so as to ensure their freedom from oil company or other disqualifying connections.

La Guardia criticized severely the failure of former Attorney General Gregory to make known his connection with oil activities in part financed by Edward L. Doheny, whose disclosures eliminated Gregory and led to President Coolidge's selecting former Senator Pomerene (Dem.), Ohio, to join with the Republican counsel, Silas Strawn of Chicago, in the prosecutions.

Strawn and Pomerene were at the Capitol yesterday and saw members of the Senate Committee. The indication is that they will commence their study of the legal aspects of the case immediately and expedite the filing of suits to recover the oil lands and the assembling of evidence for possible criminal proceedings.

They have not been finally approved by the Senate. That is, the Democratic leaders have not had an opportunity as yet to express their approval, but it is believed Pomerene's selection will be unanimously welcomed by the minority, and so far no one has shown a disposition to challenge Strawn on the ground of his firm's legal service in Chicago to the Texas company.

Would Compel Fall to Answer.
If Fall continues on Friday his refusal to talk, immediate steps undoubtedly will be taken by Senator Walsh to compel him to answer, the result being that the Senate will have him cited for contempt in the District Court here. Fall's attitude Friday and the expected unearthing of dubious administration connections with oil stock deals are holding the foreground of interest.

Rumor, dawning overtime since the lid was kicked off the oil mess, does not eliminate certain Democrats from identification with the stock trading. It also pictures one prominent former Senator of the minority as being on the Doheny payroll now among other retained as lawyers. It predicts the outcropping of additional evidence reflecting the close legal relationships between the Doheny interests and those former Cabinet officials who entered the oil magnate's employ after quitting the Cabinet and whose retention, divulged last week by Doheny, upset the whole political horizon.

KAFANDARIS CHOSEN TO TAKE VENIZELLOS POST AS PREMIER

Designation of Ministry Follows Doctors' Orders That Greek Leader Must Take Rest.

ATHENS, Feb. 5.—Premier Venizelos and his Cabinet resigned office yesterday. A new ministry will be formed by M. Kafandaris, former Minister of the Interior.

In the verdict of four physicians who examined him today, Premier Venizelos gave up his post at the head of the Greek Government and was ordered to abstain from all activities for an indefinite period. M. Kafandaris, who was requested by the regent Saturday to form a Cabinet, stated he was confident of constituting a Government that would receive the support of the National Assembly.

Fear Amendment 15 Will Affect Private Schools or St. Louis System Is Declared to Be Unjustified

Dr. Loeb, of Missouri University, Considers Proposed Changes in Provisions for Education a "Desirable Start."

Two vital objections, which are said to threaten adoption of amendment 15, which materially alters the State's education system, and is one of the more important of the 21 suggested constitutional amendments to be voted upon at the special State-wide election Feb. 26, were described and answered made to them in a public discussion at the Buckingham Hotel yesterday, under the auspices of the St. Louis Section, Council of Jewish Women.

The principal speaker was Dr.
Isidor Loeb, dean of the Department of Business and Administration at the University of Missouri.
As chairman of the special committee of the Missouri State Federation of Teachers on new Constitution and educational amendments, he had an active part in the hearings before special committees of the constitutional convention.

Private Schools Not Menaced.
The first and most important objection which he said had been presented to him only since his arrival in St. Louis, Loeb said, was to be found in the language of the section designed to permit communities, if they so desired, to extend free public school education to persons under 6 and more than 20 years of age—the present constitutional limitations. The present Constitution reads: "The General Assembly shall establish and maintain free public schools for the gratuitous instruction, etc." While the proposed section reads, "The General Assembly shall provide for the establishment and maintenance of public schools, in which free instruction shall be given to all persons in this State between the ages, etc."

From the words indicated by heavy type, Loeb said, objectors have conjured the fear that this section makes mandatory the sending of all children to public schools, thus eliminating private and parochial schools. The objection was serious, if true, he said, but the argument was unfounded. He declared the Supreme Court, if the question were raised after adoption of the amendment, would seek the proper interpretation of the section in the records of original debates of the convention, and nowhere would there be found the faintest suggestion that the delegates intended to discriminate against the private and parochial schools. The intent was just the opposite, he asserted, as evidenced by another amendment which provided these connection, he said, the plight of certain rural communities was so serious that they were arbitrarily making illegal levies.

Loeb explained that he did not appear as a propagandist. He reviewed the 21 amendments, indicating their purposes for the guidance of the voter. "I am not completely satisfied with Amendment 15," he declared, "but I expect to support it and all the other amendments. The basis of all fundamental law is to be found in compromise—not of principles, but of agencies—and I feel that the proposed amendments are a desirable start."

REPUBLICAN TRIBUTE TO WILSON

Texans Say He Earned for Peace Coolidge.
By the Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 5.—Calvin Coolidge was endorsed for the Republican presidential nomination and R. B. Creager, National Committeeman from Texas, as the nominee for the vice presidency, by the Republican State Executive Committee here yesterday. A resolution expressing regret over the death of former President Woodrow Wilson, adopted by a rising vote.
It declared that Wilson left a "record of having conscientiously performed the duties of that high office" under the most trying times, and "that the nation has lost one of its great party leaders whose heart yearned for the lessening of strife and the advancement of peace among the peoples of the world." "We join the millions in mourning his death," it concluded.

HOUSE PASSES BILL EXTENDING CITY'S RIGHT IN BRIDGE MATTER

Amendment Gives I. C. C. Power to Pass on Convenience and Necessity of Any Approach.
The Mayor's office was notified today in a telegram from Congressman Dyer that the House of Representatives passed the bill extending for three years, from next Monday, the city's authority to condemn property in Illinois for the Free Bridge railroad approach.
Dyer wired that the House passed the measure with an amendment which provides that the Interstate Commerce Commission shall have the power to pass on the convenience and necessity of any approach proposed. This amendment was added because of the objections of residents of East St. Louis to the extension bill in its original form.
The objectors declared that the proposed northeast approach would pass through the heart of East St.
Louis, to the damage of the community.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A declaration that "the wage earners of America will forever cherish the memory of Woodrow Wilson" was adopted at a meeting yesterday of 109 trade union officials and also spoken for by the Pan-American Federation of Labor. After referring to his idealism, the declaration said:
"Legislation that marked a great turning point in the lives of our people came into being under his leadership. The steamer's act which freed the last bondmen of America, and the Clayton act, which asserted that the labor of human beings is not a commodity, are monu-

PRIEST SLAIN BY MAN WALKING WITH HIM

Bridgeport (Conn.) Police Attempt to Trace Slayer and Find Motive for Murder.

By the Associated Press.
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 5.—The police today are attempting to trace the murderer of the Rev. Father Hubert F. Dahme, pastor of St. Joseph's German Catholic Church, and to find a motive for the crime. Father Dahme was shot through the head early last evening as he was walking along Main street. The slayer had been walking with the priest, according to evidence obtainable. Father Dahme was returning from a sick call. He died in the hospital two hours later without recovering consciousness. The shooting occurred within a stone's throw of the Electric Theater, in front of which a crowd was gathered, and about four blocks from the church and rectory. None of the theater crowd or others on the street, with the exception of two boys, saw the shooting, so far as can be learned. From the boys the police obtained the only description they have of the murderer. The boys say the slayer suddenly stepped to one side, fired a shot and fled. He is described as about 5 feet 6 inches in height, of slim build, and wearing a blue overcoat and cap.

Father Dahme was 54 years old and a native of Bavaria. He was ordained in Hartford, Conn., 29 years ago and had been at St. Joseph's Parish 24 years.

CORPORATE FRANCHISE OF HOUSE OF DAVID DISSOLVED

Court's Order to Be Followed by Receiver for Colony.

By the Associated Press.
LANSING, Mich., Feb. 5.—An order dissolving the corporate franchise of the House of David colony, was issued by Circuit Judge Carr late yesterday. The action following an agreement by counsel for the State and the cult, and gave the State an uncontested victory in the quiet war to nullify the institution as the first step in its avowed effort to break up and disband the colony.

By virtue of the order the Israelite House of David, the Church of the New Eve and the Body of Christ, Inc., is no more. But the Israelite House of David, a religious association, still exists and the colony will operate as it has for 20 years pending further developments. It was the contention of cult attorneys that the colony gave up its original corporate franchise, filed in 1903, in 1907, when it adopted the shorter name and formed a voluntary religious association. At that time all the holdings of the cult as a corporation and the real and personal property of members were deeded over to "King" Benjamin Purnell and his wife, Mary, "to avoid the necessity of forming a business corporation."

The real fight in the State's litigation against the Berrien County organization is still to come. The order is expected to be followed by a separate proceeding in which the State will ask that a receiver be appointed.

VERDICT THAT WATCHMAN SHOT YOUTH IN SELF-DEFENSE

Switchman Testifies to Threats by Oscar Daugherty and Companion Day of Shooting.

A verdict of "self-defense in the line of duty" was returned today by a coroner's jury in the death of Oscar Daugherty, 18 years old, of 1421 North Twelfth street, who was fatally shot Thursday at 11:10 a. m. in the Talmage street yards of the Missouri-Pacific Railroad by Elmer Barrett, a special agent of the railroad.

James F. Gill, a switchman, testified he had had trouble with Daugherty and his two companions earlier in the day and that they had threatened him with large bolts. Police men testified that Barrett's throat was bruised and his clothing disheveled when they arrived at the scene of the shooting with an ambulance. Daugherty died two days later at the city hospital.

John Garland, 4849 Hunt avenue, one of Daugherty's companions on the morning he was shot, has been released. The other, Edward Burkhardt, 2242 McKee avenue, is held to answer a previous charge of larceny of an automobile.

DUMB WAITER RUSE FAILS TO SAVE BAR OWNER'S CASH

The dumb waiter was handy and Byron Cade hurriedly thrust his $37.50 into it; then pressed the contrivance which hoisted dumb waiter and money to the second floor.

But the holdup men were not to be fooled. They had caught a glimpse of green as the little elevator passed upward.

"Bring it down," the pair ordered. "What?" Cade temporized. "The dumb waiter," was the response.

A few minutes later a policeman was reporting that Byron Cade had been held up in his saloon, at 4502 North Union boulevard, at 1:20 a. m. today and robbed of $37.50 by two men, who first posed as detectives and then escaped in an automobile.

A total of about $250 was obtained by holdup men in robberies of three saloons at 2821 North Broadway, 2873 South Broadway and 4969 Papin street last night.

Court Rules Verdict Excessive.
Circuit Judge Killoren yesterday ruled that he would grant a new trial in the case of Harold M. Williams, 5727 De Oliverville avenue, against John H. Douglass, 16 Vandeventer place, an attorney, unless plaintiff agreed to remit $7500 of a $25,000 verdict allowed by a jury last June against Douglass. The verdict was for personal injuries suffered by Williams when his automobile and an automobile driven by Douglass collided in Forest Park April 22, 1922. Judge Killoren said the verdict was excessive.

The under layers of his tender skin are to blame

Reach them in this simple way and eczema is instantly relieved

THAT constant succession of rashes, chafings, and irritations or roughness on baby's skin! What can the young mother rely on to stop each as it starts, heal it, drive it away? Ordinary surface remedies are not enough. It is deep down in the under layers of the skin that the real root of the trouble lies. Tiny cells and nerve ends inflamed and irritated, pores clogged with poisonous germs—these are what must be reached and brought back to normal. To thousands of mothers, careful physicians are today recommending Resinol Ointment as a safe and effective remedy for constant skin trouble. Absolutely pure, healing, mildly antiseptic, Resinol will often soothe away in a day or so the most stubborn rash, or the most trifling blemish. Even a light application sinks deep into the pores, attacks the root of the disorder, and starts the skin again acting normally.

If your child has today any spots, rash, or irritation of the skin, apply Resinol. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It cannot irritate the delicate texture of baby skin. You can use it without fear. Its results are surprising. Get a jar at your druggist, or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 10, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

—The Pulse of Industry

KEEPING a step ahead in modern electrical development, St. Louis now has a super-power system for factories, its great industrial district, is connected with an electric plant by cables crossing the bed of the Mississippi River. Both are linked with a hydro-electric system from Keokuk Dam, jointly supplying current in large blocks at low cost.

The electrical energy flowing from these interconnected generating stations is sufficient to serve abundant cheap power to industries today, and to take care of the industrial growth for years to come.

Cheap Power and Fuel
Cheap power, fuel and water is virtually unlimited, quantities are available for St. Louis industries. One-tenth of all the coal mined in the world is mined within 100 miles of St. Louis.

Coupled with these advantages, St. Louis also has the facilities for economical short haul. The facilities for economical transportation, together with excellent transportation service, enable St. Louis concerns to reach all markets on a competitive basis.

By locating your plant in St. Louis you would settle your power needs for all time, and also have that vital industrial problem—the long haul—settled for all time. St. Louis manufacturers ship from the center—and the rim.

All Raw Materials within 100 Miles

THE first pig iron made entirely from materials produced within 100 miles of St. Louis was turned out in plates, this St. Louis product is now being used by plants in the St. Louis industrial district at an enormous saving in transportation over Northern ores.

Ore from Iron Mountain, metallurgical coke from Illinois coal, Missouri limestone, are used in making this 100% product of the St. Louis district. Iron Mountain has "come back" and is making St. Louis the nation's newest great steel center.

Hidden Riches Revealed
Millions of tons of ore lay hidden in Iron Mountain since mining was abandoned there years ago. Pioneer men who transported ore with ox teams over plank roads to the Mississippi River thought the ore vein had run out. Recent excavations have uncovered the secret of this mountain of 60% metallic iron.

St. Louis recently solved the coke problem by carbonizing Illinois coal with the marvelous Roberts' oven. Resulting in the hidden riches of Iron Mountain was the last wholly within the St. Louis district.

It is worth your while to investigate conditions in St. Louis. Let us help you solve your problems.

DENBY AND DAUGHERTY BACKGROUND AND TO BE CHOSEN

Secretary of Navy, Last on Slate of President, Was Selected After Weeks and Lowden Had Declined Portfolio.

By Charles G. Ross, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, Feb. 5.—Edwin Denby and Harry M. Daugherty, the two Cabinet officers whom the oil leasing contracts have brought under Congressional fire, came into the official family of President Harding under widely dissimilar circumstances. From the moment that the President was elected, Daugherty, his long-time personal and political friend, the Warwick who placed him in the White House, was assured of a portfolio. Daugherty could have had virtually anything he wanted. Being a lawyer, he chose the Attorney Generalship. Daugherty was the first Denby the last on the Cabinet slate.

The post of Secretary of the Navy was first offered to Weeks, who is a graduate of the Naval Academy. It was because of that fact which would seem on its face to have peculiarly fitted him for the position, that Weeks declined. He would be embarrassed, he told Mr. Harding, if he had to pass upon the rival claims of Admirals, his friends, with whom he had served as a midshipman. Weeks, the headship of the War Department. In talking over the situation with the President-elect during the "best minds" conference at Marion, Weeks suggested his friend, Ned Denby, for the Navy. He pointed out that Denby was popular in Michigan, had served in Congress, had been a gunner's mate in the war with Spain, and at the start of the World War, though then 47 years old, had enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps. Apparently the suggestion made but small impression on Mr. Harding at the time. At any rate, he left Marion to go to Florida without having accepted Weeks' advice, though Weeks was one of the three or four whom he most relied for political counsel.

Denby Chosen After Lowden Had Declined. After Weeks' own refusal on the spot, Mr. Harding offered it to former Gov. Lowden of Illinois, his personal and political friend. Lowden was convention. Lowden's refusal left him in a quandary. During the early days of the President's stay in Florida it looked as if "Tobe" Denby, Republican National Committeeman from Kentucky, who had played a considerable part in the Harding victory at Chicago, would get the job. Most of the official state-machinery at this period regarded the selection of Hertz as virtually certain. The President, however, yielded to the argument that it would be wise to name Hertz, because he would make his Cabinet appear too "political." He had already picked Will Hays for the postmaster Generalship, and Daugherty. Both these selections were based primarily, if not exclusively, on political considerations, and the choice of Weeks was somewhat the same category. Hertz would have made a third, or fourth, "politician" in the Cabinet. The decision not to name him, though the pressure for the Kentucky was strong, left the puzzle where it had stood at Marion. With only about a week left before inauguration day, Mr. Harding didn't know who would be his Secretary of the Navy. Every member of the Cabinet, except Hertz, had been filled. Then the advice that Weeks had given at Marion returned to him: he got in touch with Denby at Detroit over the long-distance telephone and invited him to Saint Augustine. Denby went, was offered the place and accepted. Correspondents on duty at the President's headquarters wrote that the big, jolly former argument of Marines took a boyish delight in his new honors.

Thus it was that Denby, without any organized political backing, was unheralded into the Cabinet. Denby was born in Evansville, Ind., and spent 10 years of his early life in China, while his father was the United States Minister to that country. He was graduated in law from the University of Michigan, where he is still remembered as the center of his football team. Denby's Spanish war came on he was in the navy and served on the U. S. ship Yosemite. From the Michigan House of Representatives he stepped up into Congress, defeating Truman Newberry for the Republican nomination from the Detroit district in his first campaign. His bluff good nature made him a popular member.

His Business Career.
During the Ballinger-Pinchot row, he stood by the Secretary of the Interior, and that fact helped him about his defeat by Frank Murphy in 1910, after six years in Congress. After the United States got the war with Germany Denby, a practicing lawyer, walked up as a navy recruiting station and was up as a private in the 10th Cavalry. He endured the rigors of training camp at Fort Riley, Kan.

DENBY AND DAUGHERTY—THEIR POLITICAL BACKGROUND AND HOW THEY HAPPENED TO BE CHOSEN FOR POSTS IN CABINET

Secretary of Navy, Last on State of President, Was Selected After Weeks and Lowden Had Declined
Portfolio.

By Charles G. Ross, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Edwin Denby and Harry M. Daugherty, the two Cabinet officers whom the oil leading contracts have brought under Congressional fire, came into the official family of President Harding under widely dissimilar circumstances. From the moment that the President was elected, Daugherty, his long-time personal and political friend, the Warwick House, was assured of a portfolio.
Daugherty could have had virtually anything he wanted. Being a lawyer, he chose the Attorney-Generalship. Daugherty was the first, Denby the last on the Cabinet list.

The post of Secretary of the Navy was first offered to Weeks, who is a graduate of the Naval Academy. It was because of that fact which would seem on its face to have peculiarly fitted him for the position, that Weeks declined.
He would be embarrassed, he told
Mr. Harding, if he had to pass over the rival claims of Admirals, his friends, with whom he had served as a gunner's mate in the war, was tendered, and accepted, the headship of the War Department. In talking over the situation with the President-elect during the "West" conference at Marion, Mo., Weeks suggested his friend, Ned Denby, for the Navy. He pointed out that Denby was popular in Michigan, had served in Congress, had been in the war with Spain,
and at the start of the World War, though then 47 years old, had enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps.
Apparently the suggestion made impression on Mr. Harding at the time. At any rate, he left Marion to go to Florida without having accepted Weeks' advice, though Weeks was one of the three or four on whom he most relied for political counsel.

Denby Chosen After Lowden Had Declined.

After Weeks' own refusal on the part of Mr. Harding offered to the President, the choice of Denby was a successful rival in the Republican convention. Lowden's refusal left him in a quandary. During the early days of the President's stay at Florida it looked as if "Coke" Herbert, Republican National Commissioner from Kentucky, who had played a considerable part in the Harding victory at Chicago, would get the job. Most of the official state-makers at this presidential regarded the selection of Herbert as virtually certain.

The President, however, yielded to the argument that it would be wise to name Herbt, because to do so would make his Cabinet appear too "political." He had already picked Will Hays for the Attorney-Generalship, and Daugherty. Both these selections were based primarily, if not exclusively, on political considerations, and the choice of Weeks was somewhat the same category.
Herbt would have made a third, or fourth, "political" in the Cabinet.
The decision not to name him, therefore, was the pressure for the Kentuckyan was strong, left the puzzle where it had stood at Marion.
With only about a week left before inauguration day, Mr. Harding didn't know who would be the Secretary of the Navy. Every name on the Cabinet slate, except Daugherty, had been filled. Then the advice that Weeks had given at Marion occurred to him; he got in touch with Denby at Detroit over the long-distance telephone, and invited him to Saint Augustine; Denby was offered the place and accepted. Correspondents on duty at the President's headquarters wrote that the big, jolly former member of Marines took a boyish delight in his new honors.

That it was that Denby, without any organized political backing, was ushered into the Cabinet,
Denby was born in Evansville, Ind., and spent 10 years of his early life in China, while his father was in the United States Minister to that country. He was graduated in law from the University of Michigan, where he is still remembered as the most center of his football team.
His bluff good nature made him a popular member.

HARRY M. DAUGHERTY.

S. C. and won promotion. Going overseas as an observer, he did valuable service in helping to keep up the high morale of the Marines.
When mustered out he was placed in the Marine Reserve, with the rank of Major. In business, the Secretary of the Navy has had his ups and downs.
From a shoestring investment in a Detroit automobile company, he made a stake of $125,000, which he later lost in another concern. He was called to the Cabinet from the practice of law in Detroit. At the time of his selection he was at the head of the probation officers of that city.

Those who are calling for the resignation of Denby assert that the record proves him incompetent —that it is dangerous to leave such a man at the head of a great department of government. There has been no insinuation that he is other than an honest and well-intentioned man.

Daugherty Obtained
Pardon for Morse.

Harry M. Daugherty came upon the national political scene from a murky background of Ohio politics. His appointment drew more attention than that of any other member of the Harding Cabinet, and since taking office he has been the target of numerous attacks in the Senate and House. The most recent, and the gravest, was that by Senator Walsh of Montana, who,
in demanding action by the President in the oil-leasing scandal, said that Daugherty should not be allowed to handle the cases for the Government, because of the widespread "suspicion" against him.
And in its resolution calling for executive action looking to annulment of the leases, the Senate passed the provision that special counsel should direct the prosecution, "anything in the statutes touching the powers of the Attorney-General to the contrary notwithstanding."

Daugherty was born at Washington Court House, O., 64 years ago.
In 1893 he began the practice of law at Columbus, the state capital.
He was the senior member of the law firm of Daugherty, Tada & Raney, with offices in a building overlooking the Ohio State House, when Harding called him into the Cabinet. During the 20 years preceding his appointment, he rarely appeared in the trial of a case in court. He was a lawyer of the "fixer" type, working behind the scenes. It was commonly said around Columbus that a corporation that wanted some pending bill put to sleep would do well to see Harry Daugherty.

Sometimes his business called him to Washington. He it was who procured from the Taft administration the release of Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, who had been convicted of crooked financial dealings and sent to At-lantia prison for 15 years. Taft commuted his sentence on the representation that he was about to die of Bright's disease. Morse quickly got well and went about his business. He has recently been prosecuted again by the Government on a war fraud charge.

Sent Morse a "Dun"
for $25,000 Fees.

Attorney-General, the Su- per Politician, Made Har- ding President and Could Have Had Anything He Wanted.

Daugherty personally is a likable man. They praise him for the way he has borne up under troubles.
He has received hard blows without whimpering. To his wired an invalid for many years, he has shown a tender devotion. He is credited with having lent a helping hand to numbers of young men in adversity.

He is not, however, altruistic enough to forgive his enemies. In that respect he is an "Indian." He likes a political fight and believes that the loser should take his medicine.

Daugherty wanted a place in the Cabinet, his friends say, partly as a matter of vindication. "Also, no doubt, he wanted the political power and the oil leases, but there has been such a place, and he wanted to be near his friend Harding, to keep him politically on the right track.
He was the super-politician of the Harding Cabinet.

Glowing Promises Remain Unfulfilled.
Daugherty has had an excellent press agent in the Department of Justice. Glowing promises have gone forth that war grafters would be sent to jail, that the cost of living would be lowered by the department, that various and sundry other things in the public interest would happen. But there has been small performance in that direction.

Daugherty long opposed the release of the "political" prisoners.
He has antagonized labor by his use of the injunction weapon against strikes. He has incurred the bitter opposition of the liberal thinkers in Congress, on both sides, and he has been unrelentingly pursued with charges by the Democrats. An effort has even been made to impeach him.

He has weathered all storms. It was commonly thought that he would resign soon after Coolidge came in, but he has given no indication of any immediate intention of quitting. Despite his assertion that he had nothing to do with the execution of the oil leases, his name has bulked large in the general discussion growing out of the great Teapot Dome scandal. He is viewed by the country, Senator Walsh says, with suspicion. Further effort, doubtless will be made to connect him with the scandal in some damning way. Whether it succeeds or not, he will be, especially if he remains in the Cabinet, an issue in the campaign.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE AFTER EATING HOME-PRESERVED BEANS

Two Others Seriously Ill After Family Dinner Party in Albany, Ore.
By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, Ore., Feb. 5.—Botu-linus poison in home-preserved beans caused the deaths yesterday and early today of seven persons and affected three others so seriously that scant hope is held for their recovery. The beans, which had spoiled after being preserved, were eaten at a family dinner Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Reinhold Gerber. The dead are:
Mrs. Paul Gerber, 34 years old;
Hilda Gerber, 10; Marie Gerber, 7; Gottfried Ruehling, Mrs. Gottfried
Ruehling, Werner Yunker, 10; Reinhold Gerber.

Seriously ill: Paul Gerber, Esther Gerber, 13 months old; John Ruehling, 2.

Two persons, Mrs. Reinhold Gerber and Margaret Gerber, an infant, were the only ones of the 12 persons at the dinner who escaped the deadly effects of the poison. They did not eat any of the infected food.

Mrs. Gerber told authorities that she noticed that the beans seemed slightly spoiled when she opened the jar which contained them but she thought that they would not hurt any one. Werner Yunker is said to have spoken of the peculiar odor and taste of the beans when he ate them. None of the deaths occurred until more than 24 hours after the dinner.

OWNERS SENT TO JAIL ON THIRD PLEA OF GUILTY

Believed to Indicate Drastic Change of Policy in Dry Law Cases.
The Tello and Paul Palermo, who have succeeded in operating a saloon at 2701 Franklin avenue, and staying out of jail in spite of several raids, were much surprised today when Federal Judge Faria sentenced them to six months in jail, besides assessing fines of $1100 and $500, respectively.
It was the third time Tello and Palermo had pleaded guilty to violating the Volstead act. On previous pleas they were fined $150 and $150 each.
Previously Judge Faria, to encourage pleas of guilty, had announced that thus relieve a much-crowded docket, had maintained a policy of light fines. The consensus of opinion of magistrates and lawyers who frequent the court is that "it will be tough from now on."

WILSON ONCE MADE HIS MARK AS A FOOTBALL COACH

When a Professor He Devised Play Which Gave Wesleyan Victory.
By the Associated Press.
MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 5.—Woodrow Wilson, when professor of history and political economy at Wesleyan University from 1888 to 1890, made his mark as a football coach. He helped devise an offense which upset previous Wesleyan methods. He contracted the line to three men and moved the backs into positions from which they made criss-cross plays while their own plunging line held attention of the defensive opposing team. The tactics carried Wesleyan to victory over University of Pennsylvania and paved the way for a drop kick against Harvard, then regarded as a remarkable achievement. These plays also enabled Wesleyan to beat Williams 20 to 17. After the game the students serenaded Professor Wilson at his home.
Closing the umbrella the tall figure of Professor Wilson thrust the air until he had the crowd cheering in a mighty yell which so inspired the Wesleyan players that they swept down the field for a second touchdown, tying the score, which remained unbroken.

PRINCE AND PRINCESS ORLOFF ARRIVE IN THE UNITED STATES
Latter Is Daughter of the Russian Grand Duke Peter and Cousin by Marriage of Late Czar.
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Among the passengers who landed from the United States line steamer George Washington here today were Prince and Princess Orloff, the latter a daughter of Grand Duke Peter and a cousin by marriage of the late Czar Nicholas.
In easy and fluent English the Prince, a solidly built man in the late thirties, said that he had come to the United States with the idea of connecting with some automobile concern here. He said he and a few others had recently become interested in the availability for automobile manufacturing of theories in Russian mines of which the Prince owns a number, and that he would discuss the matter with various leaders in the industry here.
A representative of Henry Ford met Prince Orloff on board the steamer. Neither would say whether business dealings with the Detroit manufacturer were in progress. It was reported that Chevalier when the Prince and Princess sailed that they would settle in Detroit, but the Prince said their American visit would be merely temporary.
With the Princess and Princess was Nicholas Sokoloff, the Judge who investigated the fate of the late Czar, and his family. He and the Prince both ridiculed reports that the three intended to look into the claims of a young woman pretending to be Grand Duchess Olga, and said such claimants to Russian royalty were so numerous as to be insignificant. Mr. Sokoloff, the Prince explained, was here to secure merican rights to his books on Russian history.

ONE OF THREE ESCAPED MURDER CONVICTS REPORTED CAUGHT
Posses Said to Be Close on Trail of Two Other Men Who Fled From Arkansas Prison.
By the Associated Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 5.—Posses rushed to Redfield, Ark., today to search for three men who robbed a store there last night, captured one man who is said to have been identified as Joe Sullivan, who, with Emory Connell and Eulio Sullivan escaped from a death cell at the Arkansas Penitentiary last Friday.
A report to the Sheriff's office here shortly before noon stated that a posse was close on the trail of the two other men believed to be Connell and Eulio Sullivan.

GANGSTERS' APPEALS DENIED
Sentences of Four for Preight Thefts Are Confirmed.
The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today confirmed the penitentiary sentences of Ernest Miller, alias "Bergadine," Ray Renard, William Reinhardt and Thomas Grendley, St. Louis gangsters, who were convicted of theft from interstate freight shipments Dec. 23, 1920.
Miller was sentenced to eight years and the others seven years each. The theft occurred at Moline, Mo., in May, 1920. The men, who have been at liberty under $50,000 bonds, have been ordered to surrender within 30 days.

CUT IN INCOME TAX DUE THIS YEAR APPROVED

Republicans on House Committee Sanction Reduction of 25 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—A 25 per cent reduction in all personal income taxes, payable this year was approved today by Republicans of the House Ways and Means Committee.
At the same time it was decided that the tax of jewelry should be placed at 5 per cent, with all articles valued under $40 exempted.
That completed the Republican members' consideration of the new revenue bill in private and it will not be presented to the full committee Thursday. It probably will be reported to the House without delay.
The 25 per cent reduction in 1923 taxes would mean a saving to taxpayers this year of about $25,000,000, the Treasury has estimated. Secretary Mellon has approved the scheme.
Representative Garner (Dem., Texas), recently introduced a joint resolution proposing a reduction on axes payable this year on the basis of his general tax revision plan, which would have cut the present normal income rates in half.
Under the Republican plan, the proportional excess paid in the first installment, due March 15, would be refunded later, as it is not believed that the measure can be enacted into law before that time.
The whole committee previously had agreed to cut in half the five per cent jewelry tax, but it was found too great a cut in revenue would result. Besides the flat $40 exemption made, all watches under $60 also were exempted, as were surgical and musical instruments, eyeglasses, spectacles and silver-plated flat tableware. It is estimated that as it now stands the change in this tax will mean an annual loss of $13,000,000 in revenue, placing the total reduction in indirect or miscellaneous taxes now approved by the committee at about $114,000,000.

Our Idea of a Fall Guy Is the Man They Match With World's Mat Champion Ed Lewis

Gardini to Risk Another Setback By Lewis Tonight

Italian, Beaten by Mat Champion Recently, to Try Again at Coliseum.

Gardini Beaten Twice By Lewis and Demetral, Once by Steve Savage

REPORTS from Chicago that Gardini has lost only one match in that city, and that to Champion Lewis, appear to have been erroneous. Answering a Post-Dispatch query, a correspondent close to the mat game writes as follows:

"Last spring, in this city, Lewis defeated Gardini on two occasions. Recently Lewis again defeated him.

"Bill Demetral, who has been wrestling for many years, defeated Gardini once in the Star and Ashland Theater and again at Ashland Boulevard Hall here.

"Steve Savage defeated Gardini in Chicago at the Haymarket Theater."

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, real name Robert Frederick, heavyweight champion wrestler meets Renato Gardini, Italian heavyweight at the Coliseum, tonight, in the feature of three mat bouts.

Lewis, Promoter Tom Packs says, will receive $5000. The bout will be contested to a finish, two out of three falls being required to decide the winner. Gardini's chance of defeating the champion is not considered very rosy by a large majority of the fans, although the Italian's prestige received something of a boost two weeks ago when he won a fall over Jimmy London in a limited engagement. Gardini won this match in 41 minutes. It is said that he also holds a one-fall verdict over Wladek Zebko, gained in one hour and 42 minutes last spring in an Eastern arena. However, in a recent match at Chicago, the champion disposed of Gardini handily. Undoubtedly, local wrestlers say, Lewis will win again tonight.

Both Lewis and Gardini are known to wrestling fans as exponents of the headlock, a hold which has been the subject of much bitter discussion among wrestlers for several years.

"The flying mare" is another hold which is used effectively by Gardini. Both the headlock and "flying mare" are of ancient Grecian-Roman origin. In addition to his mastery of these holds, Lewis is adept with the subject matter of arm holds. Gardini sometimes uses a body scissors to punish his rivals.

Two preliminary events are on tonight's card. They have been restricted to one fall each. A time limit of 20 minutes has been ordered for the curtain-raiser which will bring Johnny Kilgus, a former midweight title holder, against Tommie Cantan of Butte, Mont. Kilgus is trying to battle his way back to a championship match with Johnny Meyers.

A pair of heavyweight performers who have attracted considerable attention among the second flight grapplers, will show their wares in the semifinal contest. According to promoters their names are Joe Gurkewitz, a Pole, and William Both, who hails from a backwoods section of Oregon. Gurkewitz displayed promise in a match here last month with Champion Lewis. Both was brought on for a tryout on the recommendation of Dan Koffel and other wrestlers who saw him work last summer in matches on the Pacific Coast.

Sport Briefs

Renault's Opponent Hurt.—The bout between Jack Renault and Andre Anderson, Minnesota heavyweight, scheduled for next Monday night, has been cancelled upon receipt of word from Anderson that his ankle was broken while training. Renault's opponent will be picked from Charles Van of Chicago. Andy Schneider of Omaha and Jack McCarthy of St. Paul.

Local Cyclists Race.—BERLIN.—The American team composed of Harry Kaiser-Pred Taylor and Willie Hanley-Fred Lawrence, American heavyweight, scheduled for fourth and sixth in the six-day bicycle race here, ending last night. The German team of Salchow-Lucas finished first.

Another Thoroughbred Farm.—LEXINGTON.—Kentucky is to have another thoroughbred breeding farm. The stud is to be established on the Innes farm near here by the Lebus brothers of Lexington.

First Norfolk Post.—LEXINGTON.—The first foal by Norfolk, Kentucky Derby winner in 1922, property of Benjamin Block of New York, has put in its appearance at Hayfields farm. The foal, the first of the year at the farm, is a colt, bay or brown, from Tomlinson by Sweep.

Chaney Meets Jacks.—BALTIMORE.—Andy Chaney, Baltimore featherweight, and Freddy Jacks, of England, will meet here in the main bout of the Pioneer Athletic Club's initial program, Feb. 8.

Being Groomed to Succeed M'Graw as Manager of Giants

FRANKIE FRISCH.

The New York infield star, who, so reports from the East, has not only been named captain but will succeed "Muggsy" McGraw, the story says, has been eager to retire for some time and has only been waiting for the right time to turn up. McGraw will not retire this season, however.

LAST WHITE SCHOOL LEAVES POPE DISTRICT

Pupils to Be Absorbed by Districts Adjacent to Section.

The abandonment of Pope School, a group of portable buildings at Grand boulevard and Forest Park place, which is now in progress, marks the passing of the last public school for white children in the district bounded by Chouteau avenue, Grand boulevard, Washington boulevard and the Mississippi river. The pupils of Pope School are being moved for the third time in four years, this time to be absorbed in school districts adjacent to this territory.

The increase of negro population and business enterprise in the Pope district, coupled with the fact that the lease of the present site will expire next summer, is responsible for the change, according to T. E. Spencer, assistant to Superintendent of Schools Maddox.

Attendance dwindles. The average attendance at Pope School, originally located at Twenty-ninth street and Laclede avenue, has dwindled to 509 and the district has been extended from Twenty-first street to Grand boulevard. In January, 1920, the old Pope School building was converted into a negro school, and the white children were transferred to an old mansion at 3128 Laclede avenue. Eighteen months later, the portable buildings, built on modern lines with a steam plant, were built and the pupils again transferred to make way for overflow from the negro school.

"White people who choose or are forced to live in a district recognized as a negro and commercial territory, must make the best of the inconveniences which are incident to it," Spencer said today. "We had hoped to extend the lease, but the renewal terms are impossible, and it is better to move now when school is in session than in the summer."

Can Attend Any of Five Schools. "The idea of building a new school for white children in this district long since has been proven impracticable. The attendance would be too small to warrant it, and would constantly decrease. An example is the Eugene Field School at Olive street and Taylor. It formerly was a crowded school but now it is little more than a hovel."

The Pope district has been divided among four schools—Carr Lane, 2308 Carr street, and Divoll, 2318 Dayton street, on the north, and Hogen, 2148 Henrietta street, and Chouteau, 1206 South Ewing avenue, on the south.

The white children in the district also have the privilege of transferring to the undercrowded Field School.

GOVERNMENT WOULD PADLOCK 600 SALOONS IN NEW YORK

Out of First Day's Petitions Totaling 299. However, U. S. Attorneys Get Only One Order.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The United States District Attorney's staff went before Federal Judge Knox yesterday with 299 petitions for injunctions which would padlock New York saloons, cabarets and restaurants for persistent violation of the Volstead act.

The government attorneys obtained one such padlock order against a water-front saloon and one tentative decree effective against a cabaret in the theatrical district, if the prohibition law is violated within the next 10 days.

A petition for an injunction against Shanley's Forty-third street restaurant was dismissed when it was learned the place had been closed months ago, allegedly because prohibition ruined business.

Another against a Newburgh restaurant was dismissed at the request of the Federal attorneys.

Undaunted at the sight of only one padlock order as a result of the day in court, the prosecutors announced they would proceed today against the remaining 288 defendants, and that they were preparing suits against 400 more.

CAN YOU AFFORD, IN THE FACE OF THE EVIDENCE, TO SPENDING MUCH MONEY, LOSING MUCH TIME, AND ENDURING THE GREAT INCONVENIENCE THAT IS THE LOT OF ANYONE WHO HAS THE PILES?

Mr. J. M. Beardslee's was one of the worst cases that ever came to my office. Today he is sound and well, although he had a very bad case. Since I cured Mr. Beardslee he sent his cousin, Mr. C. Gupton, of Morley, Mo., to me and I cured him. He, too, had a very bad case.

Dr. C. Matthew Coe, 501 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo. Dear Dr. Coe:—

I came to you suffering from piles. You treated me for years and I feel like a different man. You have cured me. My case was years standing, and I can truthfully recommend your treatment to one suffering from this awful disease. My advice to anyone who put off being cured. You may refer anyone to me. With many thanks, and kindest regards, I am

Yours truly, J. M. Beardslee

Helps for the Mother

By Emilie Hoffman

Copyright, 1924, Press Publishing Co.

LITTLE two-year-old Billy went off into a wild paroxysm of weeping because daddy had taken down his tower of blocks and his father promptly admonished him for "spunk." What a mother have done if he had accomplished a task and his mother had come along and demolished his achievement? And yet the mother meant much to this little boy. He had labored long and was justly proud of his accomplishment. Was it right for the mother to destroy the work?

Little girl was heartbroken because mother had thrown her picture into the stove. True the picture had been on the wall, but the girl had labored industriously to get out those pictures and they were much to her.

ough softly spoken, themselves lacked meaning. You smiled a little cynically at those two who were a world all their own by three words monosyllabically uttered a laugh. And then—you understood. They were at all. They could be used over and over again. What mattered most was The One who spoke the word.—Poplin.

Fashion Friday

Exquisite shades of pink sometimes with a gray more often with a hint of blue. The new shades are seen in the new hooded names indicate the Wood thrush, sheen, and the ruddy ruddy.

Alligator skin which is lighter than heretofore, more of a sand tint, and the geous carved ornaments with which it is adorned.

Lace has a vogue today which seems in no danger of fading. At the moment Parisienne is wearing the sleeves from elbow to wrist in lace skirt; the rest of the dress usually a hip length coat of velvet.

Many of the new shoes at present in Paris have a decidedly flat and square, odd colors combined with silver brocade, these shoes medieval in appearance.

A huge tassel, frequently a half long, is the ornament for evening wraps. London. A scarf of velvet lined and ending in one of the tassels, often taken in of a fur collar on the cloak.

WINIFRED BLACK THINKS THAT We're Speeding Up Too Much

(Copyright, 1924.)

DEAR me, aren't you glad you aren't a convict or somebody out at the Relief Home in these days of scientific research? Just as you were getting settled down to a nice peaceful old sixty-five or seventy with your pipe or your knitting as the case might be—click, there's a shot from the needle, and presto, change! There you are again back at forty-five or fifty and no time to rest or ruminate or reminisce at all.

Oh, yes, it would be all right to turn the clock back to forty-five again if that ended the matter. Who wouldn't want to be forty-five with the brain and the experience and the philosophy of sixty—or sixty-five?

But, if you have to begin all over again and go to work, just as if you were fifteen years younger than you are, well, I suppose it's trivialous to be like that, but I can't help wondering what's going to happen when we change the world around so that there's never going to be any comfortable, peaceful, settled old age at all.

We're speeding up the children. Every day or so there's a telegram in the newspaper telling us about some child of two who can read and write and add and subtract, and the other day I heard of a child of three and a half who could speak French, German, English and was beginning a Latin vocabulary.

The girls of thirteen look and act and seem to feel like girls of sixteen and boys of twelve and fourteen are rushed into dinner jackets and taught what is the correct thing at parties.

What a strange world we live in with everything telescoped—like that.

No youth, and no age. Why it will be like the climate in some parts of the world! Broad daylight with the sun blazing and then all at once—black night.

Young men for wars and old men for councils—so they used to say. But now, if the old men insist on being young men—who's going to do the counseling?

And oh, to find an old-fashioned grandmother again.

What a lot the children of this generation are going to miss. Mother was busy from morning till night. She had her home and her friends and her husband and her children to look after—too busy sometimes to tell fairy stories or sing songs or go back into the mild monotony of "when I was a little girl."

But grandma always had time. She always had patience too and kindness. She'd learned through years of experience that nothing was worth quarreling about. Nothing was worth real worry—and grandma always knew such nice old songs and good comfortable old stories with fairies in them and god-mothers and pumpkins that turned into coaches and elves that lived in the flower garden and little sprites that played in the stream—why, all the world was different when grandma told her stories.

A Pleasant Walk Together.

She seemed to enjoy singing them, too, the old songs, and she simply loved telling the stories—poor soul. Wouldn't it have been too bad if they had given her this modern treatment and made her think that she had to plunge right back into the busy work-a-day world again?

And do they never get bored with the same old world and the same old ideas and the same old interests and the same old work—these poor old people who are so anxious to turn around and go back down the steps and start in all over again—at the garden gate?

Don't they ever wish they could change and soften and broaden and be quiet and tolerant and detached as one can never be who is in the heat and thick of the battle again?

Give me the new perspective, the different interest, the changed view of life—ah, yes, I want them all, my good, kind, friendly years. Come, old Father Time, we're good friends, you and I, let's take a pleasant walk together into the sunset.

WINIFRED BLACK

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A MORTGAGE, in my grand-sire's day, meant folks were down and out; they hung their heads and looked away if there were one about. The final signal of disgrace, they did their best to hide the mortgage on the old home place, which banished hope and pride. It was the family skeleton, concealed from stranger's eyes, a heritage that hid the sun and caused unending sighs. Today it's quite another thing; the genial credit man at last has taken all the sting from out the credit plan. The wife goes clad in raiment gay, regardless of the note which she will have to meet some day upon her sable coat. The rings upon her fingers flash with just as brilliant rays as those for which folks paid spot cash in old, untrusting days.

As in our half-bought motor car we often take the air, we travel fast and go as far as any millionaire. When we grow weary of the view the brilliant sign-boards show, we turn to spend an hour or two within our bungalow; our bungalow, where roses climb, where rooms are aplomb and span; perhaps we'll own it all some time, so says the credit man. Around our festal board we sit when guests come out to dine; the walnut suite makes quite a hit; to date, it's two-thirds mine. I wonder what my grand-sire'd think could be return awhile and see us as we eat and drink in modern credit style. Oh, well, he'd better be content, I do the best I can; I'm buying him a monument upon the credit plan.

DEVILED STEAK

GET a good, tender sirloin steak. Cut it about an inch and a quarter in thickness, trim it and with a sharp knife remove the bone. Score the fat and shape the steak, then tie a cord to hold it in place. Now lay the steak in a deep dish and pour over it this marinade: Two tablespoons of olive oil, three tablespoons of vinegar—(garlic is best)—a teaspoonful of garlic vinegar or a thinly sliced onion, a finely sliced onion, half a bay leaf, three cloves, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoonful of salt, a little red pepper and a half teaspoonful of curry powder. Turn the meat frequently then let it stand over night in the icebox. When it is ready to cook drain the steak well, lay it on a greased broiler and broil it a delicate brown on either side. Lay the steak on a buttered baking dish and butter it well, then strain the marinade over it and bake it for 15 minutes, basting it frequently.

FRENCH CREAM PUFFS.

PUT one-quarter cup butter and one-half cup boiling water in saucepan and bring to boiling point; add one-half cup flour (all at once) and stir vigorously. Remove from fire and add two unbeaten eggs, one at a time. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered sheet, making as nearly round as possible. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven, cool, split, fill with whipped cream and serve with chocolate sauce.

Old-Fashioned Squash Pie.

TO a pint of boiled and mashed winter squash, add three beaten eggs, a generous lump of butter, a teaspoonful of mixed spices and one of ginger, half a cupful each of molasses and sugar and a large cupful of rich milk. Mix the ingredients well. Line a dish with good pastry, mark the edge with a flour-tined fork and pour in the squash mixture. Bake the pie from 30 to 40 minutes, according to the oven. This is a more delicate pie than pumpkin.

Philosophical Phrasings

It's a poor general who leads his men. Brains, not bravery, are needed in a commander.

Do not let an evil grow. Attack it before it has strength.

Virtue is a quality more admired than rewarded.

When the music plays, the heart is light.

Ships that are badly navigated hit the rocks and human beings are often ships without rudders.

The friendship of the good is the only friendship which slanders cannot prejudice.

I'm a Fast Worker

Try me—just once—and you'll never do without me. I'm decidedly up-to-date. I'll guarantee that I can produce a tasty, substantial breakfast in a few minutes—one of the best you've ever tasted. My name is ARMOUR'S OATS, and I'm the only quick cooking whole oat flakes. That's the whole oat story! Your Grocer knows me well, and will recommend me to you.

I'd like to start tomorrow morning

What to Serve Tomorrow:

Breakfast.

Sliced oranges and cocoanut. Oatmeal. French toast. Crisp bacon. Coffee, Cocoa, Milk.

Luncheon.

Orange and shrimp salad. Hot rolls. Charlotte russe. Coffee, Tea, Milk.

Dinner.

Clear soup. Irish stew. Baked macaroni. Onion and lettuce salad. Cheese puffs. Pineapple parfait. Coffee, Tea, Milk.

Ham and Potatoes Baked in Milk.

CUT a slice of smoked ham into convenient portions for serving. Slice three medium-sized potatoes in thin slices and put in baking dishes in alternate layers with the ham, covering with milk. Cover dish and bake slowly for an hour and a half. This also is a good fireless cooker recipe.

THE WOMAN OF IT

How to Keep a Husband—Our Rules.

(For several years Mrs. Richard C. Cabot, wife of Boston's famous diagnostician and author, has told society girls at a fashionable finishing school how to hold men when once obtained.—News Note.)

KEEP him well fed. Be a cook—or buy one.

Keep him from being bored. One way is never to let him be quite sure what you're going to do next.

Keep him outdoors—on the golf links and tennis court, or in the Atlantic Ocean. The husband that isn't the hardy outdoor variety dies too young.

Keep him away from home—now and then. Nothing is more touching than a husband's gratitude when his wife urges and even commands him to go to the Adventurers' Club dinner and to come home when he pleases.

Keep him devoted—by appreciating his devotion, instead of asking him, when he brings home roses, "What are you trying to cover up now?"

Keep him amused. Tell him the funny things you hear or see or read or do, instead of snubbing on his shoulder.

Keep him well groomed. That is, don't hog all the clothes allowance for yourself and the children.

Keep him honest—by never asking questions that are none of your business and that invite flatterers' Club dinner and to come home when he pleases.

Keep him guessing. Avoid the three a's—never be stale, or stodgy, or settled down.

Keep him happy. It CAN be done, and it's the only way you can keep happy yourself.

Dainty things washed with FAB last longer—this machine proves it!

This Cloth Testing Machine is used in the Domestic Science Department of one of the leading Universities.* With it, experts recently tested what soap flakes do to the strength of fabrics. That test makes a lot to you—and to your clothes.

The test is a simple one—but scientific and very accurate. The experts cut a piece of nainsook into strips. They left one unwashed. The other strips they washed with different brands of soap flakes, according to the makers' directions, under the same conditions of temperature, rinsing, etc. Then, one by one, all these samples were tested in the Cloth Testing Machine. The instrument, with an accurate and even pull on every thread, strained each square of cloth until it broke. The dial of the machine automatically registered the exact point of breaking. After testing nainsook, they tested also silk and wool, 1250 tests in all.

These careful and impartial tests prove that the FAB way is the better way to wash. They show by actual figures that materials washed with FAB wear better.

FAB, you see, is the safe soap flakes for all your washing. FAB is made with cocoanut-oil, that is so gentle, and yet so sudsy and cleansing. FAB flakes dissolve at once and completely in water. They make a rich, plentiful suds that flow freely back and forth through the fabric. It's these free-flowing FAB suds that take out the dirt and restore dainty cleanness. And FAB will not "run" colors that are fast in plain warm water, under the same conditions.

Why not start now to enjoy the advantages of FAB? It is so easy and safe to use for your washing. Ask for it today, at your grocer's.

*Name on request.

If you cannot get FAB, send this coupon to me. We will send you a generous trial box. COLGATE & CO. Dept. N. P. 99 Fulton St. New York City. I am enclosing 4c in stamps. Please send me my box of FAB. My grocer has none today. (Write in the margin if necessary)

Who's Who.

Sir: I note the title of your column. Who besides our live young American kids knows where and why a sandbox is? Is there really a man on the sandbox these days of Grand avenue and Olive street big liners? Always a "square shooter," give us a come-back on this matter written in good faith. Call 'em when they're over, —Belleville Post.

Yes, there is a man on the sandbox just as sure as there is a Santa Claus, a Velled Prophet and a Man in the Moon. We can't speak for Grand avenue or Olive street, but the man on the sandbox may be seen on the Page line any day.

He is usually talking to the Sergeant and may readily be recognized by his striking resemblance to the man that struck Billy Patterson.

He is about six inches taller than Napoleon Bonaparte, weighs about 30 pounds less than Jack Dempsey and has a nose like Little Jack Horner.

He is independent in politics and democratic in his habits.

He served with distinction in the World War and estimates that he shoveled in the neighborhood of 49 tons of coal in doing his bit towards keeping the home fires burning.

In addition to which he was a large purchaser of a Liberty Bond and ate no sauer kraut from the time war was declared until the boys came home.

His motto is Pro Bonus Publico, otherwise it will be In Hoc Signo for him.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE.

It is rumored that there is a gent's agreement among the baseball magnates to hold out on the holdouts.

This is to be brought about by not broadcasting their trouble with recalcitrant players. Silence is golden as the feller sez.
